Bootlegger Boss Tells Profit In Smuggling

GETS HUGE SUMS FOR LIQUOR

$800,000 Worth of Booze Enters New York Weekly From Canada

CORRESPONDENT IS TAKEN OVER ROUTE

Repeal of State Enforcement Act Opens Roads to Smugglers

BY C. K. McCALEB, (Copyright, 1923, by United Press)

MALONE, N. Y., June 8.—Twenty-five thousand gallons of bottled in bond Canadian liquor has crossed the border into New York since Governor Smith signed the state prohibition law repealer a week ago. One hundred thousand dollars worth of booze is entering the United States every day in this area.

This figure was given me by the "boss" of a liquor smuggling organization as I entered one of his automobiles at a point near Dewitt, Quebec, and made ready to run over the line with fifteen cases of Scotch intended for sale in the shadow of the Albany hill, where New York's laws are made and repealed.

Three or four hundred motor cars are engaged in the traffic, my informant said. Trained packers placed the fifteen dozen quarts into every available space in the car. The driver even displayed an extra spring hidden under the floor to help carry the load.

Crosses St. Lawrence. This 25,000 gallons crossed the line between the Vermont border and a point on the Canadian frontier a few miles north of Malone. The estimate does not include the vast amount said to be crossing the St. Lawrence from Ontario despite that province's dry law; it does not take in the cargoes which enter Vermont.

At existing bootleg prices this means a gross intake of $800,000 a week. The cost at the Canadian sources—again quoting the present market—is half of that, leaving about $400,000 a week to pay transportation, expenses and other overhead and provide a profit for those engaged in this highly illegal smuggling traffic.

There was nothing particularly thrilling about my ride on the bootleg car. Instead of feeling that I was in company with outlaws and buccaners, it seemed more as if I were witnessing the operation of an efficient, smooth running transportation business.

Makes Big Profit. "This liquor costs us $62.50 at the rate of $37.50 a case," said the chief bootlegger, as the packers worked with the bottles in their straw overcoats. "We will get $75 a case for the load, delivered."

"Our principal problems are economical transportation, reduction of expense, increase of demand and sale of the goods at the best market."

The route taken from Dewittville led almost directly south to the border over a confusing series of country roads. The car passed four others bound in the same general direction. Two were traveling together carrying a big shipment.

The trip was made in good time, but on no occasion was the speed greater than 30 miles an hour.

Have Many Routes. The routes are numerous. They begin at Montreal, at and near Naperville, LaColle, St. Marine, Ormstown, Bryson, Huntingdon or along the boundary where there are no towns but only farms, with one out of every dozen barns stocked with liquor. Once we get south of a line east and west between Plattsburgh and Potsdam we can afford to take the state roads and mingle with other tourist travel. "We are confident the state troopers will do no more than they must now that the state enforcement law is gone. As to bribes, it is cheaper and safer not to try it," said the "boss" bootlegger.

Tot Born In Prison As Mother Held For Poison Death Trial

Here are Mrs. Mary Creighton, 24, and the innocent sufferer in New Jersey's latest murder sensation. Mrs. Creighton is to go on trial June 18 on a charge of poisoning her brother. The baby was born two weeks after the mother's arrest. Since the baby was born, police have completed investigations which may lead to new murder charges being filed against Mrs. Creighton.

PIRATES IN BIG RAID ON YACHT CLUB

$3,000 Power Tender and Skiffs Are Seized by San Pedro Thieves Who Escape at Sea.

SAN PEDRO, Calif., June 8.—In the most daring raid they have staged thus far the organized band of harbor pirates, who have been looting the boats of the California yacht club, early today took the $3,000 power tender of Edward Nordcross' yacht Tsava Manyana hooked on a number of skiffs and escaped through the outer harbor.

The pirates were seen by Fred Brewer, Los Angeles yachtsman, who immediately notified the Wilmington police. The latter were unable to do anything because of lack of a proper power boat in which to give chase. The pirates escaped toward the open sea, and thus far coastwise vessels, which were notified, have reported no trace of them.

ARIZONA STAND ON DAM PACT UNDER FIRE

(By United Press Leased Wire) SANTA BARBARA, Calif., June 8.—A hot interstate clash developed between Arizona and California at the League of the South-west conference today when Walter V. Woehleke, of San Francisco, declared from the floor that "Arizona's attitude toward the development of the Colorado constitutes a menace to the republic."

Woehleke made a plea for cooperation in developing the river. He said that Arizona is holding out to tax every particle of electric energy developed in Arizona and distributed outside the state.

"California could retaliate by taxing Arizona for every drop of gasoline drawn from our wells and shipped to Arizona, and each state could do likewise."

George H. Maxwell, executive director of the national reclamation service replied to Woehleke by saying that a large number of Arizona citizens objected to having water allotments made which would permanently limit Arizona to irrigation of 200,000 acres of land, while under the Hoover pact 2,000,000 acres in Lower California would come under irrigation. He said Arizona could easily irrigate a million acres.

FRANCE DEMANDS GERMANY HALT SABOTAGE

RECEIVER IS NAMED FOR BROKERS

Wall Street Is Shaken As Court Acts Favorably on Bankruptcy Plea

(By United Press Leased Wire) NEW YORK, June 8.—Wall street, already trembling from a series of sensational failures, was given another shock today by the closing of the doors of L. L. Winkelman and company, big curb brokers, with offices in New York and the principal cities of the country.

The Winkelman firm was the third largest brokerage house on the curb market. Jones and Baker, the largest, collapsed only a few days ago.

On the petition of three creditors, Judge Bondy of the United States district court appointed Charles Livingston as receiver for the company.

Liabilities were placed at $1,750,000 and assets at $1,500,000. The failure of the Winkelman company came without warning.

The company was suspended from the curb following the court's action. Among the bigger brokerage houses to cash during the last year were E. M. Fuller and company; Ruskay and company; Dier and company and R. H. McManis and company. Amounts from $1,500,000 to $7,000,000 were involved in each failure. The Jones and Baker failure was placed at around $7,000,000.

George Gordon Battle, attorney for the Winkelman company, issued the following statement: "My clients assure me they are solvent and have instructed me to deny and contest the claim of insolvency. In the meantime, Messrs. L. L. Winkelman and company intend to co-operate to the fullest extent with their customers and with the receiver for their customers' protection."

A hearing on injunction pleas of Virginia Lee Cookson, pretty rancher, and Charles S. Mann, prominent Los Angeles realtor and manager of the Modjeska ranch in Santiago canyon, parties in the pipe line war, was scheduled to take place before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams at 2 p. m. today.

Following her arrest on a complaint secured by Mann, Mrs. Cookson brought suit against him for $5,000 and asked for a temporary and permanent injunction against Mann, to prevent him from interfering with her as she laid a pipe line, which is the crux of the "sylvan feud."

Judge Williams granted the temporary injunction, while evidence on the permanent order was to be heard today.

Mann Sues Woman. Then followed a suit entered against Mrs. Cookson by Mann, in which he sought more than $11,000 damages, and an order to enjoin Mrs. Cookson from laying the pipe. The court refused to grant the temporary order until after the hearing today.

Mr. and Mrs. Cookson, the former an ex-postal inspector at Los Angeles and now a member of a prominent brokerage firm, were to be present, with their attorneys, Robert O'Connor, Los Angeles, and W. F. Menton, Santa Ana.

Mann, with his attorney, Fred Mansur, were to represent the Modjeska interests.

First blows in the feud were struck when Mann caused Mrs. Cookson's arrest on charges of tearing up pipe owned by him.

WINS DIVORCE FROM MATE WHO SOLD HER FALSE TEETH

PORTLAND, Ore., June 8.—Mrs. L. B. Stewart is free here today from a husband who took her gold teeth and pawned them, according to her testimony.

Mrs. Stewart told the judge that her mate attempted to take her wedding ring, but she offered him some gold teeth she had just removed, and he accepted the substitute.

He borrowed $3.50 on the teeth, she said.

JEALOUSY IS HELD MOTIVE IN SLAYING

(By United Press Leased Wire) PARIS, June 8.—France sent to Germany today a strongly worded note demanding that resistance to the inter-allied military control commissions cease immediately.

Premier Poincare will communicate with the other allies regarding the advisability of replying to the latest German reparations offer, but in the meantime has made it clear to Germany that the latter's policy of sabotage and resistance must end before any agreement can be reached.

The inter-allied commissions will resume at once surveillance of German military organizations. French and Belgian officers will participate.

After the occupation of the Ruhr, Germany disclaimed responsibility for possible attacks upon the commissions.

The French cabinet will meet tomorrow to discuss the reparations situation.

ALLIES MAY SEEK U. S. AID IN DEBT PARLEY.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Germany's latest reparations offer may pave the way for a suggestion by the allied government that the United States join in a reparations and debt conference, it was believed today in high official quarters.

Like the women who appeared before the "wisest king of the ages," the "two mothers" both claim to have given birth to the little girl.

Mrs. Julia Wasny, who says she gave her child to the keeping of Mrs. Nicholas Lenz when poverty forced her to work away from home, filed a petition for habeas corpus to have the child returned.

Mrs. Lenz declares Leona Felicia is her own flesh and blood child and that the allegations of Mrs. Wasny are "absurd and unwarranted."

Upon the fact that the child prattles equally well in English and Polish, Mrs. Wasny will base one of her claims to Leona Felicia. She will produce a birth certificate, she says, showing the child was born in Stry, Poland, April 11, 1918.

Mrs. Lenz, of German descent, insists the child was born to her in Chicago. Leona speaks Polish, she said, because they live in a Polish neighborhood, where the child "picked up" the language from the street.

CREWS SAFE AS 2 U. S. SHIPS IN DISASTER

(By United Press Leased Wire) SEATTLE, June 8.—Crews of two ships, victims of a double disaster on the hidden rocks near Chirikof Island, 100 miles south of the Alaskan peninsula, were saved today by the United States supply ship Cuyama.

The mine sweeper Cardinal and the survey ship Discoverer were the vessels wrecked.

The Cardinal piled up on the rocks late yesterday afternoon and it was apparent she might become a total loss. The Discoverer answered her calls for aid and met the same fate.

Early today, radio advices received here said, the Cuyama removed the crews of the two vessels safely in small boats.

A total of 135 men were aboard the ships.

Reports here said the Cardinal apparently could not be salvaged. It was indicated that the Discoverer was not in as grave a position.

The Cuyama continued to stand by this morning.

The Cardinal was part of a naval detachment studying locations for naval establishments in Alaskan waters. The Discoverer with three sister ships was engaged in mapping the coast in the vicinity of Cold Bay for the government geodetic survey. The Cuyama is in the north supplying naval vessels.

An autopsy late today showed the woman had been shot. Four bullet wounds were found. The mysterious letter addressed to the chief of police said: "There's a woman murdered at the culvert on the Hubbard road near the Walker floral house. I took away one of her shoes and put it beside the road, hoping someone would find it."

Makes Final Tests Of Plane for Trans-U. S. Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The "home made" bi-plane which Clare K. Vance, United States air mail pilot, will attempt to fly from San Francisco to New York without a stop, was to be tested for weight and speed at Crissy flying field here today.

The plane took the air for the fifth time yesterday to test the newly installed Salmon 250-horse power French motor. Vance said the motor worked perfectly.

The flight will take place the latter part of June, according to Vance.

FEAR SOLON VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY

Wisconsin State Senator Missing as Bitter Fight Looms Over Taxation Measure.

MADISON, Wis., June 8.—State Senator Bernard Moran, Rhinelander, has been mysteriously missing since Tuesday and "there is a strong intimation of foul play in his disappearance," Senator George B. Skogmo declared on the senate floor today.

Skogmo made his announcement as the senate took up tax revision legislation on which there is a bitter fight.

Moran dropped out of sight Tuesday and cannot be located either at his home or his customary haunts in Madison or Milwaukee, the senator asserted.

Moran is said to be against the tax proposals and his absence, it is felt, will result in passage.

With Moran present the vote was declared evenly divided.

Senate doors have been locked since early Thursday in an attempt to get all members on hand.

NOTE DIRECTS OFFICERS TO DEATH CRYPT

(By United Press Leased Wire) YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, June 8.—A fashionably dressed woman's body was taken from beneath a culvert near here today following receipt of an anonymous note to police.

Marks on the body indicated that the woman had fought desperately with her slayer, Deputy Sheriff Donahay said.

Donahay believes the body was placed in its watery crypt sometime after the slaying.

The body was clad in a grey dress, grey shoes and stockings and a grey fur.

Handwriting experts immediately started work on the anonymous letter and detectives are investigating circumstances including the mysterious disappearance of a woman doctor.

DRYS PLAN FIGHT TO FINISH

Both Sides Seeking to Raise Millions For Publicity Campaigns

EXPECT BITTER ROW IN 1924 ELECTIONS

Modification of Volstead Law By Next Congress Aim of Wets

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press) WASHINGTON, June 8.—Millions of dollars will be spent in two gigantic campaigns of publicity and organization to line up all the voters in the country on one side or the other of the new prohibition struggle.

The result will be a national referendum in 1924 on the question of modifying the Volstead law to permit manufacture and sale of beer and light wines.

Under the leadership of the anti-saloon league, the drys will shortly sound a rallying call to dry supporters everywhere to contribute to a "war chest" and to receive all prohibition organizations to prevent amendment of the Volstead law and to force congress, by a show of public opinion, to appropriate more money for enforcement.

Wets Plan Campaign. Headed by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, the wets will make a similar organization drive, urging all with wet sympathies to become open active advocates of a more liberal enforcement plan and of amendment of the Volstead act to permit beer and wine.

Congress will be too busy, this winter to make any changes in the Volstead law affecting the status of beer and wine. It is extremely unlikely to amend the enforcement law, even to clarify the international situation created by propaganda of seven nations, powers against new American regulations barring ship's store liquor.

The whole matter is to be referred back directly to the people before the politicians in congress attempt any tinkering. The congress elected in 1924 may bring back beer and wine. The one that will convene in December, 1923, will not even take a step in that direction.

That is why dry leaders here are not greatly disturbed by developments in New York, Wisconsin, Illinois and other states, where repeal of state enforcement laws has occurred or is being considered. They declare the referendum will support a "100 per cent dry" enforcement of the Volstead act just as it stands.

The 1924 referendum will be the broadest test of public sentiment on prohibition this country has ever been afforded. Every candidate in 1924 from president down will be measured by the wet and dry factions.

BOOZE LAW REPEAL BILL IN ILLINOIS ASSEMBLY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 8.—A bill to repeal the state prohibition enforcement act was introduced in the Illinois legislature early today by Representative O'Grady, Chicago, and was sent to committee to die.

The measure providing for a referendum after its passage, has no chance of passing, legislative leaders pointed out. Sufficient time does not remain for its consideration as the legislature adjourns next week.

The legislature has defeated several less important "wet" bills.

Man Given 30-Day Sentence As Court Held In Gray Dawn

Yawning bailiffs, interpreters and a sleepy defendant greeted Justice J. B. Cox at sunrise court today, when Ignacio Corral was tried on charges of battery proffered against him by his wife.

The court found him guilty, and imposed a 30-day sentence on him, meanwhile warning him against further outbreaks and promising that the next time he appeared, court would be set for an earlier hour.

Corral was arrested at Placentia several days ago, and when he was arraigned, the court set his trial for today at 7 a. m. All of the witnesses subpoenaed, appeared in the gray dawn, while Constable Jesse Elliott, bailiff ex-officio established a precedent by calling the sunrise court to order.

COLLEGE CLASS CHALLENGED TO 'CARRY ON' IN GRADUATION

"If America lives, it will be only because of the intellectual and moral development of the masses." This was one of the forceful statements made last night at the junior college commencement, in the high school auditorium, by Dr. Frank Roach, pastor of the Long Beach First Methodist church.

There wasn't a dull moment in the commencement exercises, it was said, and comments on every side today indicated the closing of the college year was crowned successfully in last night's enjoyable program.

As the curtain was drawn, an impressive scene was revealed as the nineteen graduates were seated on the stage, the boys in their dark suits and the girls in dainty or-gandie dresses of pastel shades.

Musical Program Given. J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, called on the Rev. Moffatt Rhodes for the invocation. "Song of the Vikings," was the musical number given next by the junior college mixed chorus, and many were the complimentary remarks passed at the conclusion of the singing. The chorus was accompanied on the piano by Miss Margaret Wickes of the high school and college music departments, and both the accompaniment and singing were declared to be exceptionally enjoyable.

Following the address by Dr. Roach, the girls' glee club of the college sang a selection from "The Holy City," which was impressive. The solo parts were taken by Carl Hagge, member of the graduating class. The glee club also sang "The Nightingale and the Rose."

At the conclusion of the program, D. K. Hammond, dean of the junior college, presented the seventh and largest class of the college to F. L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, who awarded the diplomas.

In presenting the class, Dean Hammond said:

"The junior college has a special mission, right in line with the plea of Dr. Roach, in that we have a larger and larger class of people who can think things through. "Only serious-minded students will be attracted to the college, because here the college life, as such, is not sufficient to distract the attention of the students from the serious business for which they come to college."

State Takes Initiative. "California was among the first states to start the junior college movement, and established the first college in the state in 1911. Santa Ana was quick to follow and we are proud, this year, to present a class of this size and scholastic standing for graduation."

Dean Hammond pointed out that there are 164 students in the Santa Ana junior college this year, and that there are twenty-three junior colleges in the state with a total attendance of 3100. "It is our aim to maintain in Santa Ana a junior college which will have the highest standards in every way," he added.

Robert Green accepted the diplomas for the class, expressing gratitude to those Santa Ana people who so generously provided the college.

Class Pledges Usefulness. "I hope that we can, by our usefulness and willingness to pass on to others what you have given us," he declared, "justify our faith in us and make sure that your investment in the Santa Ana junior college has been a paying one. "We shall not be content to paddle about in little intellectual canoes, on smooth, still ponds, but will try to carry our education onto the high seas."

It is true, but it is true," said Dr. Roach, in opening his address, "that you are living in the most critical period in the history of the country and in the most wonderful days of the world's history. Also, though you have heard it over and over again, I say to you that today there is a challenge, a call, to the big things in life, and I hope this challenge will become a lure."

CLAIMS 'OTHER WOODER' MORE SPIRITUAL

Claiming that her husband, Joseph S. Darlington, was not as spiritual as another man she had "gone with," and that he was crude and uncultured, Estaline Darlington today filed an answer to his divorce suit, brought in superior court here against her recently.

He was contrary, and continually did things to annoy her, she claimed in a cross-complaint. While she denied telling the plaintiff's mother that she was sorry that she had married him, and that she should have married another man, she admitted saying that the "other man" was more spiritual, and understood her better.

The husband did not nauseate her, as he had alleged, she said, but rather, his cigarette smoke nauseated her.

On one occasion he refused to give her 10 cents to put in the collection plate at church, until, by his refusal, he had aggravated her considerably, the answer claimed. On another occasion, he berated her for buying a toothbrush which cost more than 25 cents, and compelled her to return it and exchange it for one costing that sum, she alleged.

When they lived at Huntington Beach, after moving there from Santa Ana, she was compelled to call police officers to assist her in removing her personal belongings from their residence, she claimed.

In addition to the answer and cross-complaint, she filed a petition for a change of trial place, saying that she was living in San Diego, and asking that the suit be tried there.

THREE NABBED AS GIRLS' ATTACKERS

Three men were arrested by Los Angeles county deputy sheriffs, and one man escaped during two attempted attacks on young women last night, according to word received here today. One of the women was a resident of Fullerton.

They were charged with molesting Mrs. Maud Temple of Norwalk and Mrs. Bernice Temple of Fullerton. According to the officers, the men were attempting to drag the screaming women from their car.

Edna Sykes, Belvedere, fought off an attacker while on her way home from William McKinley, in front of whose home the attack took place, routed the man by coming to the girl's assistance.

Realtor's Auxiliary

Meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Muriel Pope, vice president of the Board of Realtors' auxiliary and wife of F. C. Pope, president of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors, the former organization held a most interesting session of business and pleasure.

The pleasant rooms of the Pope home at 409 East Walnut street, were adorned with yellow cosmos and daisies while feathery ferns charmingly softened the decorative effect. Mrs. Georgia Krueger and Mrs. Nancy Jane Moase were co-hostesses with Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Louise Mock presided with her usual dignified grace.

The session opened with the auxiliary song, words of which were written by Mrs. Freeman Bloodgood, after which resolutions favoring harbor commerce by Santa Ana merchants were adopted.

Miss Nellie Vance Wilson, of the physical training department of the high school, gave a delightfully informal talk on the needs of well-equipped playgrounds, especially during vacation season.

Mrs. Muriel Pope and Mrs. Alice White gave echoes of the Realtors' convention they were fortunate enough to have attended in Santa Barbara last week.

A delicious tea menu of strawberry ice with whipped cream, individual cakes, coffee and mints was served and favors of delicate sweet peas and fern were presented to each guest.

The July meeting will be held on the second Thursday of the month at the home of Mrs. Clara Holcomb.

Chinese in design from decorations to menu, the attractive luncheons given Tuesday by Mrs. M. B.
Lentz, Mrs. C. S. Lurker and Mrs.
Ed Dickenson to their fellow members of the fourth section Household Economics of Ebell club, will long remain in the minds of guests in the Lentz home, as a fitting finale to a happy year of club associations.

The luncheon was an al fresco affair, the drooping branches of the pepper tree whose shade the tables were laid, adding to the oriental effect. Guests were asked to proceed from course to course as best they could by manipulating chopsticks while an impassive Oriental with long, swinging queue served the delectable Chinese dishes in a faultless manner.

In the afternoon an impromptu program was presented beneath the swinging Chinese lanterns on the lawn. This featured a pretty Chinese dance by Miss Fern Flood in the dainty kimono and big obi of the little brown sister and a group of clever dialect readings by Miss Ella Gilliland, well known reader of Frederick Oklahoma, who was present as a guest of Mrs.
W. D. King.

There were about thirty members present to enjoy the unique affair in addition to two guests,
Miss Gilliland and Miss Mildred Barton of Los Angeles, a guest of Mrs. Fred Bomboy.

determine whether the city shall proceed with the civic idea was about as largely supported. This

Missionary Society

Baptist

With the program directed by Mrs. West and a pleasant noon luncheon served by a committee under Mrs. F. L. Purlington, the members of the Baptist Missionary society held a most interesting session Wednesday in the church parlors.

An unique feature was the assembling of June brides, not only those of very recent date but those of yester-year as well, and declaring them to be honor guests. Mrs.
Holmes presided over the business session in the morning hours with
Mrs. Crane leading the devotionals.
Election of officers resulted in the choice of Mrs. W. H. Harrison as president; Miss C. Grace Roberts, first vice-president; Mrs.
David Meyer, second; Mrs. F. L.
Purlington, third; Mrs. J. O. Baker, fourth; Mrs. Lucy Lockett, fifth;
Mrs. J. Wiley Harris, secretary;
Mrs. Harry Brackett, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Gertrude Miner, treasurer and Mrs. O. S. Cat-land, historian.

In the afternoon, the program offered Miss Evelyn Nunn in a delightful talk on Japan while many of her beautiful paintings on display were interestingly interpreted by her. A flute solo by Miss Beese Nell Yokum, advanced pupil of Walter H. O'Garra, who played Leon Jacquard's "Simple Aveu" was a thoroughly enjoyed feature as was the song, "Spirit of God" (W. H.
Neldinger) sung in her usual charming manner by Mrs. Herbert
M. Sammis.

Echoes of the San Diego convention presented by Mrs. F. L. Austin completed an interesting afternoon.

In the absence of Mrs. Mary Hobart, president of the Congregational Woman's Union, the session held at the church Wednesday morning was ably conducted by Mrs. C. F.
Croce.

At noon, a delightful luncheon was enjoyed as guests of Mesdames F. C. Rowland, C. H. Rowland, Rogers, Jennie Peak and Arnold Peak.

After a social hour, the meeting of the Missionary department commenced, the president, Mrs. C. F.
Croce, in the chair and leading in the devotionals. The concluding chapter of the book "The Friend of the Races," was most ably reviewed by Mrs. H. C. McCord, after which a playlet was given entitled "Janies Decision," dealing with the problem of a young colored girl.

The part of "Janies" was taken by Miss Doris Hutchins, her mother was played by Mrs. Neal Belsel and a friend (Mrs. Delano) taken by Mrs. E. M. Blake.

After the little playlet, Mrs.
Schrock gave a short report of a day spent in Los Angeles at the School of Missions now being held there.

Mrs. W. G. Knox, who has had charge of the music at the meetings this year, sang most beautiful the words of "Rock of Ages" set to music by Edward T. Remick.
Mrs. W. H. Croce was at the piano.
A business session followed after which the ladies adjourned for the summer, to meet again September 12.

First Methodist
"Help Wanted by Miss Liberty" presented Wednesday afternoon by a cast drawn from the membership of the Baptist Woman's Missionary society, as a special feature of the order of the society meeting.
Methodist Missionary society meeting, was declared to be a most pleasing event. It was said that those who had seen it when first presented, found it as good as before while those witnessing it for the first time were equally impressed by its rendition and the splendid lessons taught by the different characters, as to what Christian help means to the foreigner on our shores.

The play was followed by a business session presided over by Miss Blanche Collings, president, who thanked the society for the many kindnesses shown her and her mother during the latter's illness.
Devotionals were led by Mrs.
John Clarkson after which Mrs.
Wassum told of the party given
Friday afternoon for the Mothers' Jewels of the Home Missionary society, and the Little Light bearers of the Foreign Missionary society, and reported eighty members in the Mothers' Jewels.

A shower had been announced for the Frances De Pauw school for girls, and a very liberal donation was received, principally of sewing materials. A rising vote of thanks was tendered to the ladies of the Baptist society who had so kindly presented their very pleasing program of the afternoon.
Mrs. Marsten, superintendent of supplies, gave a most interesting account of the work done and supplies sent to the different homes connected with the society. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded her for her faithful work.

It was decided that the next meeting of the Ladies' Aid and the Woman's Home Missionary society be held in Birch park, July 11.

The United Presbyterian of the United Presbyterian church spent a very pleasant day Wednesday when about forty members motored to Balboa beach as the guests of Mrs. A. N. Cox at the beautiful Cox cottage on the bay.

The morning was spent in a social way until the noon hour when an elaborate pot-luck lunch was served. Everything good seemed to be on the menu and this part of the day's program was greatly enjoyed.

At 2 p. m. the president, Mrs.
W. M. Smart, called the meeting to order and Mrs. J. T. Raitt led the devotional service.
The National Woman's General Missionary society is to meet in the First church, Los Angeles, June 1921, with about 500 delegates to come from the East, and the different congregations of the Los Angeles Presbytery are to show them all the good things possible for California to do. A committee is to collect three boxes of picnic reunion to be held all day

Saturday, June 16, at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles.

Graduates and former students of Oberlin college who now live in Santa Ana today were planning to attend a dinner at the University club, Los Angeles, tomorrow at 1
p. m., when Ernest Chalmers, a well known alumnus will be the principal speaker.

OBITUARY

IN MEMORIAM

Patrick W. Halliey of Huntington
Beach

Patrick W. Halliey died at his home at midnight, June 3, after a long illness. He was taken, on June 5, from Smith and Tutill's funeral parlors, in Santa Ana, to St. Joseph's church where requiem mass was sung by the Rev. Henry Eummelen, the pastor, and from there the remains were borne to Calvary cemetery in Los Angeles.
Mr. Halliey was born in New London, Canada, June 9, 1861, and came to Orange county from Kansas, about twenty-five years ago.
He had been in the employ of the Holly Sugar corporation since the opening of the factory here in 1911. He was a charter member of Anaheim council of the Knights of Columbus, being transferred to the Santa Ana council about a year ago.

He was a man whose numerous and sincere friends were attracted to him by the magnetism of a character, singularly upright and honest, and he possessed, in an unusual degree, the esteem and confidence of those with whom he was associated. Exemplary conduct, habits discreet and temperate, charitable and kind, are everywhere affirmed of him. His whole policy in life was to follow the
character, singularly upright and
honest, and he possessed, in an unusual degree, the esteem and
confidence of those with whom he was associated. Exemplary conduct, habits discreet and temperate, charitable and kind, are everywhere affirmed of him. His whole
policy in life was to follow the ble and to scorn whatever is false. He was a man of unflinching integrity, and the memory of his virtues will live and remain bright and beautiful in those hearts who knew him and loved him. In the presence of death, he awaited his summons with the serenity and composure of a true Christian. To his bereaved widow and relatives

the sympathy of the community flows in an unbroken stream, since all who knew him bear part in the grief at his loss.

"He never made a brow look dark Nor caused a tear but when he died."

Hence, "To live in hearts we leave behind
Is not to die."

EVA M. DICKEY

Mrs. Eva M. Dickey was born at Parkersburg, Pa. She was called from this life suddenly at her home in Westminster, June 3, 1923 at 9:30 p. m.

She was the second of six children: four sisters and two brothers.
She was married to C. W.
Dickey in 1877. In 1883 with her family she moved to Valley Falls, then to Denison, Kans., where they resided ten years. In 1893 they came to Westminster.
Twelve years later Mr. Dickey passed to the life beyond, leaving his wife and seven children to face life's burdens and responsibility. With the exception of one year in Los Angeles Mrs. Dickey has resided in Westminster for thirty years.

In 1917 she was married to Samuel A. Dickey.
Born and reared in the Presbyterian church, in which her forebears were members, she has all her life been in affiliation with it. For nearly thirty years she has been a member of the Presbyterian church of Westminster.
She was a charter member of the "Happy Workers," for thirteen years secretary of the Missionary Society, a member of the building committee of the present church edifice.

In the activities of the church,
in the homes of her children she found her interests and lived her life.
To mourn her departure, to cherish her memory and devotion
she leaves her husband, Samuel
A. Dickey and seven children.

heim, three sisters in Pennsylvania and one brother in Oklahoma City.
Her desire to leave without long sickness was gratified.
What she was in the community, in the church, in the homes of her children is known in the hearts of those who best knew her. Today we are here to catch if we may a larger meaning for our own lives, and more responsible devotion to Him who gave
His all for us.
Funeral services held at Smith
and Tutill's undertaking parlors, Santa Ana, Thursday June 7, at 2 p. m., were conducted by her pastor, Rev. William T. Wardle, assisted by Rev. Frank Cowgill of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Cecil Willits sang "Abide with Me," and "Saved by Grace," interment was at Fairhaven.

A great concourse of friends were present, and the many floral tokens of love and sympathy evidenced the regard for the one called so suddenly.

Hard Times Prevail At County Park Picnic Party

Youth and age met on common ground last evening when they entered into competition in the development of the most ridiculous costumes and "setting hearts on fire" at the "Tacky" picnic at Orange county park given by the Young Ladies' Institute of the Catholic church.

Men resurrected clothes long since consigned to the attic or basement and added a few embellishments that made them the more novel, while women went into old trunks and rag bags and brought forth garments worn in grandmother's time or pieces of more recent use but decidedly "shot."

Good fun ruled while preparations were being made and during the basket dinners enjoyed at 6:30 o'clock. Following dinner, members of the party joined with other picnicers in dancing in the pavilion. Those in "rags" gathered at the pavilion at 9:30 for a grand parade and award of prizes offered for various features.

Winners of the women's prizes were Miss Frances Hillman, best hardtime dress; Mrs. Carl Heim, most ancient costume; Miss Elizabeth Paine, most comical costume; Mrs. Thomas Feeley, best sustained character, that of "grandma."

Among the men, C. S. Taylor was awarded the prize for the best hardtime clothes; Julius Meyer, most ancient clothes; Thomas Feeley, best sustained character, ("Si Perkins"); George W. Young, dressed as a fat woman and Arthur Daley, as "Percy," tied for the award for the most comical costume, and Daley won on the flip of a coin.

Judges were Scott Cunningham, R. B. Williams, Mrs. S. T. Cotta, Ed. Geissel, Mrs. Olive Lopez and Horace Fine. The committee in charge of the party arrangements comprised Mrs. G. F. Ravenkamp, Mrs. James P. Doherty, Miss Bernice Gohers and Miss Zola Powell.

Miss Bernice Bull was at the piano during the latter part of the dancing program. Girls of a high school group furnished the music in the early part of the evening.

Pi Beta Phi Sister Honors Betrothal Of Local Maid

Miss Margaret Tedford, whose engagement was announced recently at a beautiful tea given by her mother, Mrs. W. B. Tedford, will be the honored guest tomorrow afternoon at a bridge luncheon at the Virginia Country Club, Long Beach.

With forty sorority sisters of Pi Beta Phi as guests, Miss Helen Hauge, of Long Beach and sorority sister of Miss Tedford's at Stanford, will be the hostess for the afternoon.

The announcement of Miss Tedford's engagement to Nelson Nowell, of Honolulu, also a Stanford man, will be the incentive for many lovely affairs such as will be the bridge luncheon tomorrow.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Rupp of North Flower street have departed for San Francisco and Oakland where they will remain for a visit of a month or six weeks' duration.

Enjoying a week at Big Bear are Mr. and Mrs. Frank True who are guests in the Kimball cottage there.

Forest Home is calling Santa Ana as the summer advance. At present Mrs. Ella Campau and Mrs. Lewis Moulton are enjoying a week in that sylvan solitude which Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Grubb and their daughter, Mrs. Herbert Wagner are also among those opening their cottages for a brief stay ere the formal opening of the season.

Mrs. Emily Hess of 503 Prospect avenue, Los Angeles was a Santa Ana visitor yesterday, called here on matters of business.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Knights started today on a motor trip to Northern California, where they will visit points of interest during the next two weeks.

In a sparrow's nest examined recently were found, among other things, an old railway ticket, a safety pin, half a cigarette, a small buckle, the finger of a kid glove and nearly half a yard of bandage.

Birthdays Celebrated By Steak-bake At Park

A barbecued steak-bake dinner at Orange county park was last night a feature of birthdays celebrated by Mrs. Cecil Beard, of Santa Ana, her sister, Mrs. G. R. Martin, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. P. M. Shell, the latter two, residents of Orange.

A birthday cake and a bouquet for each were in prominent positions on the table occupied by the celebrating group. Mr. Cecil Beard was chef, and according to reports of members of the party he is quite an artist in the preparation of steaks.

Dancing in the pavilion was enjoyed following the birthday dinner.

Sharing the pleasures of the occasion, beside the families of the honorees, were Sidney Hopcroft and family, Anaheim; R. C. Burbank and family, Phoebe Burbank and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Burbank and family, Olive; B. W. Shell and family, I. Bird and family, Orange; R. F. Pipp and family, M. F. Kelsey and family, Santa Ana.

Relief Corps

An interesting talk by Mrs. E. Mawe, president of the newly organized W. R. C. at Anaheim, the A. B. Paul Corps, was a feature of yesterday's pleasant tea held at G. A. R. hall in the afternoon.

Initiation was held as well and Mrs. Amanda A. Short and Mrs. Marie E. Cron received into the organization. Reports of the recent encampment at Modesto offered still another feature of keen interest as did the report of the welfare committee who announced thirty-one sick calls and twenty-two bouquets distributed during the month.

It was decided to present the A. B. Paul corps at Anaheim with a Bible to be in readiness for its next meeting.

Mrs. Eliza Rankin, mother of Mrs. Cushman and Mrs. Young, will return to Colorado with the travelers, there to remain during the summer. With the coming of fall, Miss Young will return to the coast where she will enter Mills College.

Housekeeping Seems So Easy to Mrs. Harrison!

Don't you know the big secret? There is only one way.

Mrs. Harrison has all the things that make housework easy.

When the floors are to be cleaned, she doesn't take up all the rugs and put them out on the line to be beaten and then scrub all the floors—no indeed!—that's old stuff.

Mrs. Harrison has a fine vacuum cleaner that runs as easy as a dust mop and it picks up every thread while it sucks out every atom of dust—cleaner than an hour of beating on the line.

She has a kitchen cabinet that saves thousands of steps; an electric washing machine and ironer.

She has a gas range, of course, and a fireless cooker that saves half the work of cooking and most of the heat.

She has the most perfect refrigerator you ever saw. It is as easy to clean as a dinner plate and it's sweet and clean all the time.

OF COURSE, she's a wonderful housekeeper—of course, her house is always spick-and-span—of course, she always looks well groomed when you see her—

She Has Everything That Makes Work Easy Everything That Does the Work Well

But, do you know how little it costs to have all these things? Do you realize how little you need pay down to have them all in your home tomorrow? Do you know that all these things are being described in the Advertising News columns of The Register? Why not enjoy life like Mrs. Harrison? It's easy enough—the Advertising News columns will tell you what to get.

IN THE REALM OF SOCIETY

Pomona Church Wedding Interests Hosts of Santa Ana Friends

Of keen interest to friends in this city, was a beautifully appointed wedding in Pomona of Miss Elsie Parker to Lester Walden Newberry of Los Angeles.

Miss Parker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parker of Pearl street, Pomona, has endeared herself to a large circle of friends here on frequent visits to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carr, 617 West Fourth street, and her aunt and uncle, Mrs. J. P. Hanson and Mrs. R. J. Carr.

Her cousin, Miss Ione Hanson of this city, was first bridesmaid at the wedding which was an event of Sunday, June 3 in the First Christian church at Pomona. The church was transformed into a formal garden for the lovely event, arches twined with ivy and crowned with pink carnations tied with fluffy tulle bows, marking each aisle while a realistic arbor of vivid gladioli and poppies with masses of ferns and palms, enclosed by a gleaming white picket fence, made an artistic background for the impressive ceremony.

From behind the flowers, floated the silver voice of Miss Frances Burkett, singing "O Make These Mine" followed by Miss Vivan Pope of Long Beach sweetly singing "My Dear." Miss Gertrude Pitzer at the organ then played Mendelssohn's Wedding March and the Kawaunkamish Camp Fire Girls entered to take their places along the aisles where the wedding party would pass.

Little Miss Etta June Leisner, in fairy-like white, orrandy frock with the wedding ring held in the heart of a white lily, led the party followed by two dainty flower maidens, Jean Wilder and Marjorie Finley, also in white orrandy and carrying baskets of Cecil Brunner buds.

Miss Hanson then entered, walking alone, gown in peach orrandy and carrying pink sweet peas and blue forget-me-nots. The four bridesmaids followed: Miss Kathryn Newberry, sister of the groom; Miss Edith Learned of Glendale; Miss Hester Ross of Alhambra and Miss Florence Peck of Los Angeles. Each wore a delicately tinted frock of crepe de chine with picture hat to harmonize and each carried sweet peas.

Miss Dorothy Parker, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and was gown in pale blue crepe de chine with hat of silver cloth. Her flowers were Cecil Brunner roses and forget-me-nots. At her side paced the bride, lovely in white satin-backed Canton crepe with pearl trimming. Her veil fell in fan-shaped folds from a band of pearls encircling her soft hair and her flowers were bride's roses in shower effect.

At the altar she was met by Mr. Newberry, who attended by Wilbur P. Perry of Modesto as best man, had proceeded down another aisle to the altar where the Rev. Dr. Arthur Braden of the Christian College, Los Angeles and Dr. Cecil Cheverton also of the college were awaiting them.

As the two officiating ministers proceeded with the beautifully impressive ceremony, the ushers, William Sheverson of Los Angeles, Nelson McGraw of Glendale, Shirley Davidson and Carol Thompson of Oakland together with three honorary ushers, Howard and Russell Payne, Pomona and Harold Turney of Los Angeles, gathered to escort the bridal party to the church parlor where the reception was held.

There quantities of flowers were used to accent the pink and white motif which prevailed even to the refreshments. The latter were served by the girls of the Philanthropy class to the accompaniment of piano and violin music by the Misses LaMayne Jewett and Marjorie Gleason.

Following a wedding trip the happy young people will spend the summer in Ontario and in the fall will re-enter the Christian College where Mr. Newberry is preparing himself for the ministry.

'GRAND TO HAVE YOUR HEALTH' says Mrs. Jenny Evans, of Detroit, Mich. "I feel of us appreciate our health until we lose it. Mrs. Evans worked in a factory, but owing to a weakness and pains in her back she was forced to give up her work. She says: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me well. It is grand to have your health, to feel well all the time and to go around like other women without that awful torture of female troubles." Women who are suffering from such troubles should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the tried and true medicine, now recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for female ills.

Larkspur, roses, delphinium, gladioli and all the products of a summer garden aiding in beautifying the home of Mrs. Susan Ruthford at Balboa Wednesday and again yesterday afternoon when that enterprising hostess brought to a conclusion the delightful series of social events with which she has added to the gaiety of the springtime.

Opening each event with a delightfully informal buffet luncheon, Mrs. Ruthford asked her guests to devote the remainder of the afternoon to bridge with attractive prizes in china and linen offered.

At Wednesday's event, Mrs. James Rice scored high, Mrs. G. E. Bruns, low and Mrs. Shackelford attained the happy medium which won a pretty gift. The same plan was repeated yesterday and Mrs. Fred Parsons won first prize, Mrs. E. S. Gilbert medium and Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, low.

Choir Members Are Dinner Guests

Marguerites, both white and yellow, rendered the social rooms of the Christian church attractive last night when Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Hummel were hosts to members of the Christian church choir and their families at a delightfully planned dinner.

Approximately seventy-five persons gathered for a happy social time such as is assured with such genial hosts as Mr. and Mrs. Hummel both of whom are decided factors in the success of the choir of which Mr. Hummel is soloist and Mrs. Hummel (Hazel Landers Hummel) is director and soloist.

The merry social time was varied by practice of some of the new music to be presented during the summer.

Bible Class

Miss May Scholes, musical director of the Women's Bible Class of the First Christian church, announces a ladies' quartet as one of the special numbers for next Sunday morning.

Mrs. J. R. Mayer is arranging an interesting program for the Sunday following. On account of illness, C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, was prevented from speaking to the class last Sunday as had been advertised. He promises to come at a later date.

Wedding Announcement Comes As Surprise To Merry-makers

Tables were successfully turned on a group of merry-makers who last night gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cratsenburg 722 South Van Ness street to surprise Miss Inez Cratsenburg with a delightful little miscellaneous shower in recognition of her engagement to Mr. Earl McBey.

The surprise proved to be double for Miss Cratsenburg was gone and in her place, Mrs. Earl McBey greeted the guests and enjoyed what proved to be a post-nuptial shower. For the young people had stolen a march on their friends and the wedding which had been anticipated as an after-school event really took place Saturday, May 19 when the happy pair slipped away to Anaheim and were wedded by the Rev. J. A. Geissinger of that city.

Returning to this city, the bride continued her work at the Washington school and the groom returned to his duties at the Southern Pacific railroad office with their friends none the wiser until last night's party brought forth the announcement.

Gathered to offer a wide assortment of charming gifts together with their happy wishes were Mr. and Mrs. Cratsenburg, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Lauderbach, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Lauderbach, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Gorton, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Childs, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Tidball, Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. Maria Gorton, Mrs. Louella Greene and daughter Alberta.

Pink roses and carnations had been used to deck the home by Mrs. Cratsenburg who had been told of the shower plans. Ice cream and cake were served late in the evening, special cakes for bride and groom each being beautifully decorated.

Mr. and Mrs. McBey plan to leave Sunday by way of San Francisco and Salt Lake City for Michigan where they will spend several weeks motoring from point to point. Returning by way of Colorado they will visit the Grand Canyon and reach Santa Ana in July or August.

Mrs. McBey as Miss Inez Cratsenburg, has been a member of the staff at Washington school where her popularity among the youngsters of her class was charmingly proven yesterday afternoon. For the young people, aware that her marriage was to be a spring-time event, recognized it with a shower of dainty gifts which came as a complete and happy surprise to her.

Legion Auxiliary

Enthusiastic plans for an auxiliary picnic were formulated at a well-attended business session of the American Legion auxiliary held last night at the armory with Mrs. Gertrude Whitney presiding.

The picnic, to be strictly confined to members, will be an event of June 21 when the merry group will gather at the Legion home at 5 p. m. to start in a body for Huntington Beach. There a plunge party will be followed by a shore dinner to which each one is expected to contribute what fancy dictates.

Those members who were not present last night, are requested to call Mrs. Whitney and tell her their intentions of going that a sufficient number of automobiles may be provided.

Calumpit Camp

At a recent regular meeting of Calumpit Camp and auxiliary, U. S. W. V. the attendance was most gratifying and keen interest was shown in the accession of members, E. Canby of Brea and Ralph Roberts of Fullerton, elected and Ernest L. Canby of Brea and Austin R. House of this city, mustered into camp.

Both camp and auxiliary will assemble at K. of P. hall at 7:45 p. m. on Flag day, June 14, and march in a body to the exercises to be held at Elks' hall. The following Sunday the organization will accept an invitation from the Col. W. G. Schrieber camp at Pomona to join in Flag day exercises there where a tablet commemorative of the sinking of the "Maine" will be unveiled at 11 a. m. and a picnic to be held in Ganesha park.

The local camp plans the purchase of a flag to present the Brea Boy Scouts whose master, Robert H. Lee is a Calumpit member. A movement has also been started to have each comrade own a flag to be displayed at his residence on patriotic anniversaries. The adjutant has been instructed to obtain prices and to decide upon a uniform size.

Illness of Z. B. West Gives Opportunity For Jurists To Visit For Time

When Santa Ana's gorgeous sun this summer plays peek-a-boo with the Venetian blinds in Department 1, Orange county superior court, warming the necks and feet of wrangling attorneys and official attaches, staid judges from outside counties where it actually gets warm, will peer down from the bench, smile serenely and remark to themselves of the city's matchless climate.

Such a condition may be assumed, at least, from the responses received here during the past few days by Superior Judge Z. B. West, slowly convalescing at his residence from a serious illness, to letters which he recently sent to several of his judicial colleagues.

Advised to Rest.

While Judge West now is believed to be on the road to recovery, his physician advised absolute rest and quiet during the summer months. He should not attempt to hold court, they urged him, before September.

With Orange county's new judgeship not being created for almost three months and with double

ZIELIAN PUPIL FLOCK PICNIC TOMORROW

200 Men and Women Who Went to Old Tustin School Expected

BY TOM LEWIS

Would you travel more than two thousand miles for the purpose of attending a picnic?

That is what men and women did last year and, unless all signs fail, that is what men and women will do again this year.

The occasion? Why, the picnic of the "Zekes," of course—at Orange county park Saturday, June 9.

Who are the "Zekes?"

The "Zekes" are the old-time pupils of J. J. Zielian, for many years principal of the Tustin school, where some of the best known residents of Santa Ana and Orange county were grounded in the rudiments of "readin', an' writin' an' 'rithmetic."

Old Times Unforgotten.

Although the years have slipped away with relentless regularity, and there are now some graying heads in the little band of "boys" and "girls" who used to sit at the feet of their master in the old Tustin schoolhouse, those pupils have never forgotten, nor will they ever forget their friend and instructor.

In token of their appreciation of the firm foundations laid in the days that are gone, these "boys" and "girls," some two hundred of them, held a picnic last year, in honor of Prof. Zielian. To that picnic came men and women from all sections of the state, as well as from other states.

One man came all the way from Kansas City. That was Arthur Raibe.

Came Down From S. F. Another made the journey from San Francisco, just to be on hand when the fun began. That was Ben Macomber.

And so it goes. Some are staid business men, carrying the responsibilities of state and county executives. Others are sweet-faced mothers, bring their children to meet the beloved teacher. Still others are teachers themselves, now passing along to others many of the basic principles inculcated at Tustin.

As for the program at the picnic of the "Zekes"—they ain't gwine to be any.

"Program?" exclaimed W. C. Jerome, county auditor and a pupil of Zielian.

"Program?" repeated J. C. Lamb, county tax collector, and also a student at the old Tustin school.

Then in unison:

No Program Planned

"When the 'Zekes' get together, no man thinks of a program. Program be hanged! We'll talk, and talk, and talk, and eat, and eat, and eat. That's the program! And every man and woman will take it!"

And that's exactly what will happen when the "Zekes" rally around their old teacher at Orange county park tomorrow.

Maybe the old teacher will make a little speech. And again, maybe he will not. That's entirely up to him.

But whether he does, or does not talk, the Zielian clan will love and honor him, just the same. For, you see, the whole business is based upon love and esteem, and many there are who will pay tribute to the old master.

And that's why men and women come thousands of miles to attend a picnic.

Without a doubt Roberts' office, which has the co-operation of seven or more similar officials about the county, finds most trouble among the Mexicans. During the early fall many such families move into the walnut groves, where work for the children is available. Half-day schools proved effective last fall, and the plan likely will be adopted again this year, he said.

Strict enforcement of the law, with variations only in extreme economic or humane cases, is the rule, it was emphasized.

Delinquents usually are 13 or 14 years old, it was noted.

BROKEN HOMES BLAMED FOR TRUANCY

Delinquents and Tourists Also Make Problems of School Non-attendance

Broken homes—shattered home life—to this may be traced the source of much of the difficulty of the truant officer as he seeks to ascertain the reasons for irregular attendance at school.

W. C. Roberts, county superintendent of attendance, today was pondering over the activities of his office for the school year just closing and outlining plans for next fall.

On his office rests the responsibility of getting and keeping the youngsters in the classroom. But, when there comes a difficulty in doing this, he usually inquires into home environment.

Other problems confronted are: The economic condition of the Mexican.

The auto tourist.

Cigarettes.

Juvenile delinquency.

But, perhaps, the most discouraging of all these and the one most humanly interesting in social work, Roberts finds, is the demoralizing effect of a home divided against itself.

This factor is found in Santa Ana and Orange county, both among Mexicans and whites, on a rapidly increasing scale, the attendance superintendent observed.

"Perhaps more difficulties faced our office this past year than ever before and these were partially entirely new," Roberts declared, "but our experience in the work and our added facilities for coping with the situation makes us feel that we are getting better results."

"Our newest job starts with the tourist. His castle is his auto and with the family he pauses here. He doesn't see the need of sending his children to school as he doesn't figure on staying long. He classes himself and his family as but migrants and the only law he knows is the law of the road."

Delinquency, Cigarettes Linked.

"But we read him the law, which makes him liable if his children are under 16 years, and usually he either conforms to it and starts the youngsters off for school, or moves on."

Delinquent girls and boys always have been a problem for school authorities, it was declared, but Orange county does not seem to notice such lowering of standards among the youth as other sections of the west have reported.

Such cases, however, usually are turned over to city and county juvenile officials, it was pointed out.

Roberts said most school authorities were agreed that the use of cigarettes and delinquency go hand-in-hand. Drug and liquor problems usually are never encountered in dealing with youths of the county under 16 years of age, he added.

Delinquents usually are 13 or 14 years old, it was noted.

WHERE CAN MOTHER BE, ASKS BANDAGED TOT OF SAD FATHER

CRIME INCREASE HELD NOT DUE TO DRY LAW

The recorded increase of 224 per cent in the number of prisoners booked at the county jail, as revealed in a comparison of the records for the first five months of this year and the same period in 1918, is not indicative of a growing immorality of the county, and is in no way induced by prohibition, according to Superior Judge R. Y. Williams.

"Rather, I believe, it is evidence partly of the natural growth of population in Orange county, and partly of the growing increase in crime in the United States," the judge said.

Records show that between January 8, when Jailer Orio Moncrief began his duties under the new sheriff, Sam Jeriman, and today, 844 prisoners entered the jail.

Year's Increase 38 Per Cent

In 1918, during the same period, the figure was only 260, the records revealed.

Last year, during the same five months, 665 men and women were lodged in jail, showing an increase of 38 per cent this year.

These figures include federal prisoners, sentenced by the United States court at Los Angeles to serve terms here, it was pointed out. At the present time these men form about 12 1/2 per cent of the jail population.

The gain indicated reflects only the rapid increase of crime in the United States during the past thirty years," Judge Williams pointed out. "Statistics show that crime thirty years ago was not one-third of what it is now."

Immigration Blamed

"This is said to be due to the fact that the 'riff-raff' of Europe—some of the continent's most undesirable citizens—have come to this country."

"We, being near the Mexican border, feel the effects of that immigration."

"Then, there is the natural growth of the community. Where there are many people, even though the general tone is high, there will be crime."

"Most of those committed to the jail, or even arrested, are there for petty offenses," the court pointed out.

"I do not think that the Volstead act has had any bearing on the increase. Orange county was dry-dried in fact—before the national prohibition act went into effect, than it now is. There was always a law against liquor here, and there were always arrests."

New Building Plans Here

Interest in the increase at the jail was intensified by the fact that blue-prints of the proposed new jail, a three-story building, to contain the cells, deputies' quarters, the sheriff's home, the sheriff's office, the bureau of identification, and other offices, had been received, and were being examined by jail officials.

The funds for the building, which, it is expected, would be started as soon as the hall of records is completed, will probably be included in the next annual budget.

Incidentally, Moncrief pointed out that despite the increase in the number of men handled, the work is still done by the same number of employees.

MOVE TO HONOR NOTED WOMEN WITH SCHOOL NAMES GETS FOLLOWING

Parent-Teacher Bodies Give Approval to Petition As Scores Express Accord

BOARD SOLONS TO ACT

Place of Sex In Education Given As Foremost Item In Recognition Appeal

"We believe that the universal recognition of womanhood among the noted names of the world is an accomplished fact. We, therefore, congratulate the Parent-Teacher associations upon their desire to honor great women in the naming of the two junior high schools, and respectfully recommend, as parents and citizens, that you grant their request."

Signed by scores of Santa Ana residents, endorsed by leading clubwomen and embodying the sentiments of several hundred members of Parent-Teacher associations, the foregoing resolution today was in the possession of Mrs. Neal Beisel and Mrs. Marshall Harnols, preparatory to its presentation to the board of education here next Tuesday.

Declaring that hundreds of women are vitally interested in the matter, Mrs. John Clarkson, president of the Ebell club, today joined Mrs. Beisel and other Parent-Teacher workers in advocating that the two junior high schools be named in honor of famous women.

Some Board Solons Favorable

At the same time, it was learned that certain members of the board of education are thoroughly in sympathy with the plan advocated by the women. Other members were non-committal.

"I have been asked," said Mrs. Clarkson, "to express an opinion concerning the suggestion to name the two schools in honor of noted women. All things being equal, I see no reason why this should not be done."

"Woman, we find upon sober reflection, has played a leading part in contributing to the history of our country."

"Where, if not in educational matters, should we expect to find the women of the United States taking the initiative?"

"It is not necessary to add that some of the most noteworthy movements of which we have definite record have been launched by women."

Great Men Not Discounted

"All this may be said without casting any reflection upon the many illustrious men who have contributed so very materially to the history of our land."

"If we are to erect monuments to our great men, however, I can see no objection to erecting monuments to some of our great women."

"I can think of no better way to honor our national leaders than by naming our schools after them. In this, the living monument, we

EXPECT DETAILS OF VAST WIRE FRAUD PLOT

Details of an asserted coast-wide "wire tapping" fraud scheme, which culminated in the arrest here several weeks ago of James Albert Wilkes, were expected to be revealed in Justice Hanby's court, Los Angeles, today when Wilkes was to undergo preliminary hearing on fraud charges.

Wilkes was arrested here when he failed in an alleged attempt to secure $150, which was said to have been sent to Frank V. Webb, Glendale.

Fate Enters Stage.

According to F. E. Warner, Santa Ana Western Union agent, Wilkes telegraphed to Gus Fisher, Scranton, Pa., brother-in-law of Webb at Glendale, advising him that Webb was to undergo an operation, and asking for $150. He signed Webb's name to the telegram, Warner said.

Then, coming to Santa Ana, he wired to the Glendale office, it was claimed, asking them to forward the money to him here. By a strange coincidence, the real Webb was in the office of the Glendale branch, and denied that he had wired for money. Warner was so informed, and he held Wilkes until city police arrived and arrested him.

Confession Is Claimed.

Los Angeles officers, removing Wilkes to the jail there, asserted that he was a member of a gang which has been operating along the coast. Much money has been obtained by the same means adopt-

PIPE BEATING ROW TOLD BEFORE JURY

Details of an alleged attack during which the defendant, a young man, was said to have struck William Beckstead, 65, with an iron pipe, four feet long and two inches in diameter, were revealed today as J. W. Hannah was undergoing trial before a jury in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court on charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

Hannah, according to the testimony, employed in the oil fields at Huntington Beach by Beckstead. In the course of an argument, the defendant was said to have beaten the elderly man almost to death.

The pipe was introduced as evidence in court by Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley. At noon today, the state's case was virtually concluded.

Dempsey Lays off As Old Cut Opened In Training Melee

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 8.—Nursing a bad cut over his left eye as the result of being butted by one of his sparring partners Wednesday, heavyweight Champion Jack Dempsey has called off all vigorous training until next week, it was announced today.
The cut, which is expected to heal soon, required medical attention however, and the title-holder isn't taking any chances of having it opened again.
Unless the rash does heal satisfactorily, the heavy training program outlined for next week will probably be delayed also, it was said.
The champion was not expected to do much more today than he did yesterday when he took his usual morning walk and played baseball in the afternoon with his sparring mates.

MOVE TO HONOR NOTED WOMEN APPROVED

would perpetuate in the hearts of our children the name and the deeds of the woman we desired to honor. What finer tribute could we pay anyone?"

Names include Notables
With many women favoring the name of Frances Willard for the South Main street school, a number of other names for the two schools today were submitted by clubwomen, Parent-Teacher associations, and prominent citizens. Among those who submitted names were bankers, merchants and retired business men.

Names suggested included the following:
Frances Willard, Julia Lathrop, Phoebe Hearst, Alice Freeman Palmer, Mary Lyons, Jane Adams, Susan B. Anthony, Betsy Ross, Molly Pitcher, Barbara Frischette, Ella Flagg Young, Pocahontas, Edith Cavell, Priscilla Alden, Florence Nightingale and Helen Keller.

Part in Education Played
While some members of the board of education declined to be quoted, others frankly declared they were in favor of the feminine names.

"Many women have achieved greatness," said Marshall Keeler, board member, "and I can see no objection to naming schools after them. Some of the names suggested have a powerful appeal."
"Among these is the name of Alice Freeman Palmer, an educator of international prominence, whose portrait is among those of the seven great women now hanging in the Hall of Fame, in Washington."

Dr. Roy S. Horton, another member of the board, indicated that he would look with favor upon the proposal of the women.
"A number of names have been suggested," said Dr. Horton, "including those of Phoebe Hearst and Susan B. Anthony. I would favor giving serious consideration to the feminine names."

Prominent Citizens in Line
Among those reported by Mrs. Beisel as favoring the feminine names were:
Former Mayor J. G. Mitchell, E. B. Sprague, W. B. Tedford, C. A. Harolds, Willa Howe Waffie, Robert L. Brown, P. G. Beisel, Miss Mabel McQuinn, A. H. T. Taylor, W. H. James, Neal Beisel, C. W. Where Can Mother Be, Asks Bandaged Tot of Sad Father

knew her baby was in such dire need of mother's attention.
Battle For Health Begun.
When Baby Ruth Jane tumbled over the cliff at Arch Beach last Sunday it was feared that the fall would be fatal. But with the pluck of a girl-6-11 and the help of capable medical treatment, she has hung onto life. Now is beginning the battle back to good health.

Head bandaged, where fair hair has been cut away from a bad wound, and with little aches that cause involuntary twinges of muscles in the bruised body, Baby Ruth Jane wonders just why mother has not been home for so long.

Father took his family of children to Arch Beach last Sunday for the cheering affect of a day in the open. It was just a week since mother had left. He thought to find peace there, but fate doubled his troubles.

Father sat on the cliffs overlooking the calm Pacific.
Just as he had done day after day since his children's mother had gone, he sat and brooded.

Child Toodles Away.
"Why did she go? Where did she go? When will she come back?"

The older children, almost forgetting their own bereavement in sympathy for father, sat near him. Baby Ruth Jane sought other playmates.

With the unconscious carelessness of a young child, she was the only one able to enjoy the beautiful play at the seashore. Her play led her toward the cliffs.

Her cry of fear as she tumbled aroused her elders. They found her on a ledge of rock twenty feet below them. A possible fracture of the skull, said the doctor.

So ended the day with a father, bewildered, holding a moaning baby in his arms. That made just one appeal—

Where is the mother of Ruth Jane?

S. A. CLIMATE LURES JUDGES HERE TO SIT

duty, therefore, falling on Judge R. Y. Williams, it was necessary for Judge West to get in touch with outside judges who could substitute for him.

Would they be glad to come? From the tone of their acceptance, the cooling breeze of "nature's prolific wonderland," warm as it might seem to native Santa Anans about August or September, seems as a gust of wind from Iceland or Alaska to others.

San Diegoan Here Soon.

Judge C. N. Andrews of Department 4, San Diego county, replied that either he or Judge Edgar A. Luce would be on hand to hold court for two weeks, beginning June 17.

From Alturus, in the "wilds" of Modoc county, came word from Judge F. M. Jamison that he would arrange business matters so he might fill in from July 2 to August 10.

Judge William D. Dehy answered by telegram from Independence, Inyo county, that a period of two weeks beginning August 13 suited him to the best of his ability.

Others were willing to breathe the ozone here, but their names had to go on the waiting list, as Judge West, serving his twentieth year as a magistrate, is confident he will be able to resume his duties by that time.

King, Daughter In Row as to Baby's Time for Feeding

Says Princess Mary: "Just like a grandpa! Of course he's fed enough. No, I simply won't wake him up in the middle of the night to feed him. That's mid-Victorian!"

That's the row. Mother and grandpa can't agree on meal times for Baby George Henry. Hubert Lascelles.

The conversation given here isn't absolutely verbatim. But they've said approximately that, gossip has it.

King Has Own Ideas
The King thinks a baby ought to be fed regularly every three hours, awake or asleep. His own children were, he argues, and he'd like to know why his grandson shouldn't be fed every three hours.

Modern nursery custom laughs at that, Princess Mary points out—nowadays a baby is left at night as long as six or seven hours if he is sleeping.

LAGUNA BEACH IS TOUCHED AT DEATHS

LAGUNA BEACH, June 5.—Laguna was immeasurably grieved by two deaths that occurred last week; that of Mrs. Thaddeus Lowe at her home in South Pasadena and of Mrs. Albert Duarte in Laguna.

Mrs. Lowe's death was very sudden and unexpected. She spent several days at her summer home in Laguna two weeks ago and was apparently in good health.

She is survived by her husband and her daughter, Mrs. J. Rankin Barnes, and by her mother, Mrs. Florence Dobbins.

Mrs. Duarte had not been well for some time but her conditions was not considered serious.

FOR CITRUS SCALE

Rosin soap spray is especially good to use for scale on lemons and orange trees. Use one pound to about three gallons of water. A thorough spraying is almost as effective as a fumigation, if done at the proper time. Kerosene or distillate is often added, but should be used with care to prevent burning of foliage and fruit. We handle the Rosin soaps in one, three and forty pound cans.

LIONS TOLD OF AUSTRALIA'S RESOURCES

An address by Dr. Arthur B. Hoare, member of the faculty of the Los Angeles School of Optometry and a director of the League for Conservation of Vision, and a solo by Robert Bradford were features of a meeting of the Lions club at St. Ann's Inn.

An Australian by birth, Dr. Hoare predicted the day was not far distant when there would be closer business and social relations between Australians and the peoples of the Pacific coast. He declared that the ideals of the two peoples were identical, and that development of closer business relations would be but a natural consequence of this fact.

Pointing out that the area of Australia is as large as that of the United States and the population less than that of California, the speaker said that there were volumes of raw materials in Australia that could not be exploited because of the lack of man power. He said that New Zealand in time would be the work shop of Australia, with the raw materials of the latter country going there for manufacture instead of to England.

Touching on his profession, he said that the United States today is the most bespectacled nation in the world. He said, however, that this was not due to a larger proportion of defective vision but to the fact that the people of this country have been educated to the possibility of conserving nerve energy by the use of glasses. He declared that one-third of the nerve energy of the human being is expended through the eye.

Cal Prior, vice president, presided today in the absence of President Harry Hanson, who is on his vacation.

Dr. C. W. Johnston was chairman of the program committee.

DAYLIGHT THIEF AT ORANGE IN $1000 'JOB'

Clothing and jewelry valued at nearly $1000 were stolen from the apartment of F. W. Ruskau, 132 Almond street, Orange, yesterday afternoon, in one of Orange county's most daring daylight burglaries, according to a report made today by Deputy Sheriff Herman Zabel, county finger-print expert, who investigated.

Entrance was gained some time between 2 and 6 p. m., when the burglar, reaching through an open window next to the door, unlocked the door.

A brown mink coat, belonging to Mrs. Ruskau, was the most valuable article stolen. The skirt of the coat, Zabel declared, was fringed alternately with tails and claws of minks, with one claw missing. The garment was valued at $850.

A man's overcoat, valued at $65, and an old-fashioned brooch, having considerable actual worth and a greater sentimental value, also were stolen.

MAINS LAW PLAN STIRS REALTORS

With the city council at its meeting last Monday evening announcing that it proposed adopting an ordinance requiring subdividers in future to install water mains at their own expense, the Santa Ana Board of Realtors, meeting at St. Ann's Inn today, authorized appointment of a committee of three to confer with the council and learn definitely what its plan of action will be.

J. Wiley Harris, Stanley Goode and Everett A. White were appointed to the committee. The board accepted an invitation of the women's auxiliary of the board to a "kids' picnic" to be held at Orange county park next Friday evening. Men and women will be expected to dress as children and notice was given that a fine of $1 would be imposed on any member of the board who failed to attend.

Linn L. Shaw, chairman of the Orange county harbor commission, the principal speaker, presented the necessity for continuation of the harbor improvement program and the possibilities under greater development.

BAMBINO'S PLAYING GREATLY IMPROVED

Yank Star Fails to Slam Homers But Gets Share of Singles, Doubles

BY BILLY EVANS.

"If Babe Ruth doesn't hit his quota of home runs in 1923 the Yankees are going to be decidedly up against it."

That was the belief expressed by many of the baseball experts prior to the opening of the season. To a majority, the hope of the Yankees depended almost entirely on Ruth's slugging.

Can Ruth come back? That proved as great a topic for discussion. Would Bambino after six months of intensive training regain the batting eye that made him the most feared batsman in all the history of the game?

Ruth, during the first six weeks of play, has upset the pre-season dope in a great many ways. He has given the lie to several well defined beliefs.

Ruth and the New York club have conclusively proved that it is not necessary for Babe to be hitting his daily home run for the Yankees to be up in the race.

Ruth in Comeback. He has also staged the comeback that a great many of the experts doubted, although he has not been fence busting to an alarming extent.

Prior to going south and during the spring training season Ruth worked as hard as any rookie striving to win a place as a regular. When the season opened he was in the best condition of his baseball career. However, physical condition is not everything in baseball, the batting eye must also be in shape.

During the games in the south the old time Ruth swung lacking the rhythm that was once a thing of beauty, even when the big fellow swung thrice in vain and wended his way to the bench for the customary drink of water. The once perfect co-ordination appeared lacking.

Hitting Timely. Since the opening of the season Ruth has been constantly improving at the plate. A home run in the first game that decided the contest gave him some of the much-needed confidence. While several batters have the edge on him in the matter of home runs, the big fellow is within hailing distance, having ten circuit swats to his credit.

In a number of cases his home-run drive has proved the deciding factor. In the recent 15-inning game with Chicago, the longest contest in the American League to date, it was Ruth's home run that broke up the affair.

Ruth, however, has come back in other departments in a much more forcible manner than in the mere matter of hitting home runs.

Babe, because of his splendid physical condition, is covering more ground in the field than he ever did. Never in all his career has he thrown so well. The loss of some 30 pounds has given him a free swing to his throws that formerly was lacking.

Makes Sensational Plays. Already this year I have seen Ruth save three ball games through a remarkable catch. Likewise I have seen him save two others by a great throw, one of them cutting off the tying run at the plate, the other completing a double play at second before the tying run had crossed the plate from third.

Last year Ruth would have fallen down on these remarkable plays that saved the day for the Yankees. Excellent physical condition tells the story. I don't look for Ruth to smash any home-run records, but he is still a big threat.

GREAT FALLS SEES CHAMP IN ACTION

Jack Dempsey (right) snapped as he aimed a jab at Jack Burke's stomach at the champion's training camp at Great Falls, Montana, where he is working for his battle at Shelby July 4 with Tommy Gibbons. Burke is one of Dempsey's eleven sparring partners.

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SHELBY, Montana, June 8.—When No. 1, the big train from the east, pulled in at sundown—last evening and dumped a shipment of tenderfeet on the platform of the new yellow pine railroad station here, the bad news was ready.

"Better go see 'em ride some bad horses tonight, strangers," came from a straw-chewing cowpuncher idly holding up the building.

"The old town's done closed up," Shelby Takes Count.

The news of the day was true. Shelby a few days ago the widest open town of the great northwest, has taken the count from the law.

If the long faces of the station loungers were not sufficient proof, the strains of a hymn floating up from a group of camp singers gathered, was sufficient to show that someone had taken the wild and woolly out of the neighborhood.

From the third story of a brand new building a few rods down the main street came the moan of a saxophone a little later in the evening, and the pan-pan of a piano and the ping ping of a guitar floated from the King Tut dance hall, the only one doing business. A few dusty punchers with alkali-caked boots told their idea of a toddle with some rather nice looking dance hall girls, but that was all.

Everything closed up at 9 o'clock. A week ago they didn't get going until after midnight. The law, it seems, stepped in and stopped the excitement just as it was getting under way.

Arena Half Completed. The arena, in which Dempsey and Gibbons will meet July 4, is more than half completed and has been approved by the state fire marshal. Tickets are going rapidly.

Gibbons sentiment runs high out here. Tommy and his family, (Mrs. Gibbons and three small boys) established themselves in one of the best houses in the town. The challenger's training camp is pitched within walking distance. Tommy is doing nothing but road work at present; on his first day here he went 16 miles on the road and after dinner Mrs. Gibbons and her husband hit up a fast pace for three more miles across country.

SPORTS of all SORTS

When George W. Grant owned the Boston Braves he used to like to philosophize on the gambles that baseball presents for a magnate. Not being financially fixed as well as some of the more wealthy clubs, Grant used to do most of his gambling on gathering in young unknowns from the rookie world.

"It's all in luck," Grant said one day last winter. "Pat Moran got a whole team of fine young rookies who made regulars for him in one big sweep of the minors. Maybe he'll never find another one. They all come in bunches and some day I'll get mine."

He didn't stay in baseball long enough to see his hopes fulfilled at least partially. He sold the club during the winter and the expected strike of the Braves in the rookie market followed his retirement.

The Braves are disposing as class a bunch of young players this season as are to be found in numbers on any major league club. In outfielders Bagwell and Felix. Second Baseman Conlon and Pitcher Genewich the Braves have a bunch of jewels.

Conlon, especially, seems to be a prize find. The former captain and star of the Harvard "varsity" nine was secured for a small bonus and he looks like the best fielding second baseman that has come into the majors since Eddie off the campus at Cambridge into a big league uniform, and while he may have much to learn, he has the mental qualifications to absorb his lessons quickly and he has natural baseball ability.

The most striking commentary that can be made on Jim Genewich is that he cost the Braves ten cents, representing his carfare to and from the club offices, and he won his first two games in the big-time—both against the Giants.

Jack Bentley cost the Giants $65,000 and he is no youngster. Genewich, as has been said, cost a thin dime and he is only nineteen. Bentley lost his first two games and Genewich won his first two.

Only the sceptical bunch that anything is to be expected in baseball prevented wholesale casualties around the National League circuit when it became known that Charles Ebbets, the owner of the Brooklyn Robins, had offered Baltimore $100,000 for Joe Boley, the star shortstop of the Orioles.

Ebbets has been the pioneer on the conservative element that has been wasting his time and voice on protests over the acts of rich clubs in buying ball players. He apparently has come to the conclusion that if you can't find 'em you have to go out and buy 'em. But he will find that it isn't easy even to buy a pennant when you have the money.

SPORT FLASHES

NEW YORK.—Johnny Dundee has signed to meet Eugene Ciriqli, new featherweight champion, at the Polo Grounds in a 15 round battle June 30.

BOSTON.—Hank Gowdy, veteran catcher of the Braves, and John Watson, pitcher, have been traded to the Giants for Jess Barnes and Earl Smith.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—An attempt to break the mile record of four minutes 12½ seconds now held by Norman Taber will be made by Joie Ray, veteran Chicago runner, here tomorrow.

HOUSTON, Tex.—Dan Kenney, former professional at the Tyler Country club, and William Lundberg, professional at the Glenwood Country club, established a new marathon golf record when they played 216 holes in 15 hours and a half here.

In The Big Leagues

Heavy hitting of Hollocher and poor Giant pitching gave the Cubs a 9 to 7 victory over the Giants.

Rixey held the Braves safe while the Reds made a clean sweep of the series with Boston, winning the last game 3 to 1.

Pfeffer shut out the Phillies for ten innings and Blad's triple won the extra inning game for St. Louis 1 to 0.

Rommel returned to form and the Athletics beat the Browns 8 to 5.

Peckinbaugh, veteran Washington shortstop, got four hits and felled brilliantly while the Senators were downing the Tigers in a weird game 16 to 4.

Ehmke held Cleveland safe and the Red Sox won 7 to 1.

Magnate Ordered To Appear In Court In Seattle Sale Fight

LOS ANGELES, June 8.—William Wrigley Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs and the Los Angeles Angels, Joseph Patrick, president of the Los Angeles baseball club, and Charles Lockard and Wade Killefer, owners of the Seattle club, have been ordered by Federal Judge William P. James to appear before a court reporter here June 14 to make depositions concerning the sale of the Seattle ball club.

The order came following a suit filed in San Francisco by Lockard demanding that President William H. McCarthy of the Coast league seat him as a director in the league.

The depositions will be used when the Lockard case comes up for trial in San Francisco on June 25.

Telegraph companies have been ordered by the court to produce messages exchanged during the alleged deal for the Seattle club.

ELECTRICIANS LOSE TO CHURCH MEN 20-3

The Robertson Electric company indoor baseball team today had joined the list of victims of the First Congregational church aggregation following a challenge game at the local Y. M. C. A. court last night.

The electricians made it a real game for a few innings but fell by the wayside when the Congregational sluggers got started. The final score was 20 to 3.

Wayne Nelson, on the slab for the church outfit, had charge of the situation throughout and the electricians who got on the paths were few and far between. Orlyn Robertson heaved the last three rounds off his team and baffled the winners.

Having taken on all the Santa Ana teams of note, the Congregationalists will pick on some outside competition next week, Manager Frank Nickey announced. The locals have signed for a run-in with the Riverside Congregational team.

LA HABRA CLUB WILL PRESENT STREET FAIR

LA HABRA, June 8.—Ambitions of the La Habra Woman's club will reach a high point of attainment this year when they will offer the second annual street fair here tomorrow.

Would Swell Fund
The fair is being given for the purpose of swelling the building fund for the construction of a $10,000 clubhouse on the six lots donated to them for this purpose by James H. Walker, president of the First National bank of La Habra, and Edward C. Beck, retired rancher, of La Habra.

The activities will begin at 10 a. m. and will continue throughout the day, culminating in a street carnival and dance, which will last until midnight.

Lunch will be served at noon and a chicken dinner will be offered at 6 p. m. The usual fortune telling, arts and crafts booths, side shows, baby show and program will be presented as parts of the day's activities.

A large rest room tent will be provided with lounging places for those who wish to retire from the festivities for a time.

Mrs. H. R. Hilbert Directs
Mrs. H. R. Hilbert is in general direction of the affair; Mrs. J. I. Williams will have charge of the dinner arrangements, Mrs. Charles Newson, ice cream and refreshments; Mrs. Walter Hole, arts and crafts; Mrs. Roy Barker, baby show, and Mrs. Beatrice Proud, program.

With better equipment this year and a previous experience behind them, the women are confident that the affair will be a huge success this year. Last year the club cleared more than $500 through this medium.

Already the La Habra Woman's club has raised $8000 of the $10,000 goal set. Early in the season they initiated a drive which netted them almost $4000.

$45,000 Plant to Be Constructed By Orange Citrus Men

ORANGE, June 8.—Promising a new citrus packing plant, costing approximately $45,000, directors of the Orange Mutual Citrus association, recently formed here, assembled at the city hall this week to receive their charter and perfect organization details.

Select Site.
The plant, which will be modern in every aspect is to be erected on a site to be selected within the next few days by the directors' committee. At present, it was said, three sites are in view.

All the sites under consideration are convenient to both the Santa Fe railroad and the Pacific Electric.

Actual construction, it was declared, is to start early this fall and the structure will be completed by January 1 when the association anticipates starting operations, with lemons the first product shipped.

At the meeting last night, which was attended by C. P. Early, Redlands, general manager of a prominent citrus distributing concern with which the new organization will be affiliated, organization plans were perfected with H. S. Greenwald, Santa Ana, president; G. W. Struck, vice president; G. A. Shoemaker, treasurer; G. L. Bates, secretary; and John Bosch, director, all of Orange.

Twenty citrus growers, all of whom are to be connected with the association, were present at the meeting when the charter was received. The association this week filed incorporation papers with the county clerk.

He plans to spend approximately two hundred and fifty thousand dollars in improving the tract, putting in paved streets, curbs, sidewalks and all other modern improvements.

Mr. Barber left Wednesday for the east on a "Laguna Boosting" trip, taking with him many photographs and much data concerning Orange County's famous beach resort.

Practical Notes on the S. S. Lesson

Prepared for The Register by Cal. Ogburn

By CAL OGBURN
Lesson for June 10. Neh. 4:6-15.
NEMEMIAH, THE BOLD
BUILDER.

"So we built the wall."—v. 6. It is a supreme satisfaction to be able to look upon a difficult task well done. This was the privilege of Nehemiah.

The Backward Look
The backward look is one of disappointment or of gratification. And what it is to be depends most of all on each individual. Young people could do no better than to think of this, and to so act that when looking back upon the past—as they must, whether they would or not—they will have no cause for regret.

Nehemiah the son of one Hachaliah, probably of the tribe of Judah, held the important office of cup-bearer to King Artaxerxes Longimanus of Persia. This position no doubt he might have retained, but receiving an account of the deplorable condition of the Jews at Jerusalem, he obtained a commission and leave of absence from the king to go to Jerusalem and rebuild the wall and restore the city. If the backward look is to be satisfying, something important in the matter of the world's betterment must be undertaken.

Nehemiah might have retained the easy berth that had fallen to his lot as the king's cup-bearer. But he could not then have said, with enviable pride, "We built the wall." The work of Nehemiah was constructive, and the motive that prompted it was unselfish. He was deeply moved by the news that reached him of the sad plight of his people in the far-away land of Judah. He was a man whose attributes were far above those required in order to be an efficient cup-bearer.

He was a man too large for the position he held, and he was unwilling to make himself accommodatingly smaller, as some would have done. He would not purchase ease and comfort at any such price, only to have his conscience deny these to him after the price had been paid. But he could and would do something really in proportion to his capacity. Another might be the king's cup-bearer; his duty was in acting the part of a benefactor to his own people. The undertaking was truly herculean. But Nehemiah had confidence in himself and faith in God.

Given to any young man these two qualifications, and he will write "Success" for his surname before he is fifty years of age. And these essentials—fundamentals, they are—self-confidence and an unwavering trust in God, he can have if he wills to have them. Then why should any man, as old age advances, eke out miserable existence on the dry crusts of regret?

"Sanballat... Tobiah—the Arabians—Ammonites—and the Ashdodites."—v. 7. Opposition? Yes, "Nehemiah," you will have plenty of it. You will have many an obstacle to overcome. Some people will even "go out of their way" to oppose what you are doing. But what of it? An easy success is no success at all. You can't fly your kite on a calm day. Perhaps there were many in the Persian capital who said of Nehemiah, "That young cup-bearer of King Artaxerxes is going to Jerusalem on a fool's errand." Hearing this said of him, Nehemiah's "kite" began to rise. And when opposition developed thick and fast in and about Jerusalem, as he was at work rebuilding the wall, Nehemiah's kite went up to the zenith.

Opposition
Why, man, opposition only develops strength. It uncovers hidden treasures; reveals unknown resources. Let the "kites" all combine under the leadership of some "Sanballat" and attempt the very worst of which they are capable. Be not dismayed.

Such opposition is common enough, as every man who is succeeding in his cherished ambition can tell you. At the most critical time, too, in what you have undertaken, except the strongest, meanest, most contemptible opposition to develop. It was when "the wall was joined together unto half the height thereof," that Nehemiah and his fellow-workers met the peak of resistance. And it was the most critical time.

They had not the enthusiasm of an earlier period, nor the exhilaration to sustain them that would come when their work was nearing completion. Marshall all of your reserve forces when any great work that you have undertaken is only half done. Be prepared for a crisis, for in all probability it will come in some form at this time.

"When the Jews that dwelt by them came, they said unto us ten times from all places, Ye must return unto us."—v. 12. When doing a great work, the hardest thing to meet is the well-meant but wrong counsel of those who would be thought one's friends. Repeatedly and from various places the Jews came to Nehemiah and almost demanded that he stop rebuilding the wall. Probably these were delegates of "influential" persons—usually they are such—but they had no influence with Nehemiah. He refused to alter his plans, and

Would Not Be Discouraged
He had come from Shushan to Jerusalem to rebuild the wall and to restore the city—and he meant to do it. Nehemiah knew that his people never could be of any importance as a nation so long as Jerusalem was a heap of ruins.

By restoring the city he would restore the nation. Rather, if the wall of the city was rebuilt, the devastated kingdom would revive. The people, given an incentive, would build again the city of Jerusalem and all of the organizations of a well-appointed national government. You cannot do many things—perhaps but one—that need to be done. But do what will be an inspiration to others, what will lead the way and make it easier for them. Be constructive in your attitude. The world is constantly in need of just such men as Nehemiah—and you. In the face of opposition that would have discouraged a spirit less bold, Nehemiah succeeded—and so may you.

Calvin Gray comes to Dallas and rents the most expensive hotel suite in the city. He is the enemy of Colonel Henry Nelson, son of Bell Nelson, banker. Gray falls in love with Barbara Parker, who buys land for Nelson, and he suggests that she also purchase land for him. Gus Briskow, friend of Gray, takes Ma Briskow and Alchey, the daughter, to the mountains. Gray visits them there. A message comes saying that Bud Briskow, the son, has run away from school and Gray offers to follow him and bring him home. Gray returns to Dallas to see Barbara Parker.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

DURING the early dusk Gray returned to the lease, only to find even the greasy caretaker gone. By this time he was decidedly uncomfortable, and to add to his discomfort, he conceived the notion that he was being followed. On second thought he dismissed the idea nevertheless he took a roundabout course back toward the main street.

Before long Gray found himself in a superheated, overcrowded back room with a stack of silver dollars which he scattered carelessly upon the numbers of a roulette table. Roulette was much like the old game. This was a good way in which to kill an hour.

Absorbed in his own thoughts, Gray paid little heed to those about him, until a large hand picked up one of his bets. Then he raised his eyes. The hand was attached to a muscular arm, which in turn was attached to a burly stranger of unpleasant mien. Gray voiced a good-natured protest, but the fellow scowled and refused to acknowledge his mistake. Noting that the man was flushed, Gray shrugged and allowed the incident to pass. This bootleg whiskey from across Red River was of a quality to scatter a person's eyesight.

For some time the game continued before Gray won again, and the dealer deposited thirty-five silver dollars beside his bet. Again that sun-browned hand reached forth, but this time Gray seized it by the wrist. With the wrench the man undertook to free his hand; he uttered a threatening oath. The next instant he was treated to a surprise, for Gray jerked him forward and simultaneously his empty palm struck the fellow a blinding, resounding smack. Again he cuffed the fellow's face, this time from the other side. When he finally desisted the stranger rocked in his tracks; he shook his head; he blinked and he cursed; it was a moment before he could focus his whirling sight upon his assailant. When he succeeded it was to behold the latter staring at him with a mocking, threatening smile.

The drunken man hesitated, he cast a slow glance around the room, then muttering, hoarsely, he turned and made for the door. He was followed by a burst of derisive laughter that grew louder as he went.

Gray was in a better mood now than for several hours; he had vented his irritation; the air had cleared. After a while he discovered that he was hungry; no longer was he too resentful to heed the healthy warning of his stomach, so he left the place.

CHAPTER XIX

A Bold, Bad Man

NEWTOWN'S eating places were not appetizing at best, but a meal could be endured with less discomfort by night than by day, for at such times most of the flies were on the ceiling. The restaurant Gray entered was about what he had expected; along one side ran a quick-order counter at which were seated several customers; across from it was an oilcloth-covered table, perfectly bare except for a revolving centerpiece—one of those silver-plated whirligigs fitted with a glass salt-and-pepper shaker, a toothpick holder, an unpleasant oil bottle, and a cruet intended for vinegar. Here, facing an elderly man in a wide gray felt hat, Gray seated himself.

When a departing customer left the door open, the elderly diner grumbled bitterly at the draught and draped his overcoat over his bent shoulders.

Most of the counter customers had drifted out when, without warning, the screen door banged loudly open and Gray looked up from his plate to see his recent acquaintance of the gambling table approaching. He lurched directly up to the table and stared across at Gray.

"Slapped my face, didn't you?" he cried, after a menacing moment. "I did, indeed," the speaker nodded, pleasantly. "You ain't going to slap it again."

You ain't going to slap anybody's—

"What makes you think I won't?" Gray became awfully as he spoke that his elderly neighbor had raised to the intruder a countenance stamped with a peculiar expression of incredulity, almost of anger, at the interruption. That which occurred next came unexpectedly. The stranger whipped out from under his coat a revolver, at the same time voicing a profane answer to the challenge. As Calvin Gray rose to his feet it was with a flash of mingled anger and impatience, it served so little purpose.

"My friend," he cried, sharply, "if you don't put up that gun, one of us will go to a hospital."

By way of rousing his savagery, the fellow uttered a bellow, then, like a warrior smiting his shield with his spear before the charge, he swung his heavy weapon, smashing at one blow that silver-plated merry-go-round with its cluster of bottles.

A shower of toothpicks, fragments of glass, a spatter of oil and vinegar covered the old man in the end chair, and he rose with a cry that drew a swift glance from the desperado. Gray was upon the point of launching himself over the table when he witnessed a peculiar transformation in his assailant. The man's expression altered with almost comic suddenness, he lowered his weapon and took a backward step. Gray, too, had cause for astonishment, for the elderly man was moving slowly toward the disturber, his overcoat, meanwhile, hanging loosely from his left shoulder, like a mantle.

That he had been recognized was plain, for the armed man cried, agitatedly: "Look out, Tom! I don't want any truck with you." The deliberate advance continued in a harsh voice Tom answered: "I don't allow anybody to interfere with me when I'm eating!" For every step he shuffled forward the man before him fell back a corresponding distance.

Again the newcomer rasped out a warning, and Gray, too, added his voice, saying: "Leave him to me, old man. This is my quarrel." As he spoke he moved around the end of the table, but the mantled figure halted him with an imperious jerk of the head. With-out in the slightest diverting his steady gaze, Tom snapped:

"Hands off, stranger! I won't have you butting in, either. I don't allow anybody to interfere with me when I'm eating." Brief as had been the whole episode, already passersby had halted, staring faces were glued to the front windows of the cafe. Well they might stare at those two tense figures, one advancing, the other retreating, as if to the measures of some slow dance.

But the tempo changed abruptly. The desperado's back brought up against the swinging kitchen door; it gave to his weight and decision was born of that instant. With a cry he flung himself backward, the spring door snapped to and swallowed him up with the speed of a camera shutter; then followed the sound of his heavy rushing footsteps.

"Hell!" exclaimed the old man. "I had his buttons counted!" With the words he let fall his overcoat, and there, beneath it, Gray beheld what he had more than half suspected, what indeed was ample cause for the quarrelsome stranger's apprehension. Held close to the owner's body was what in the inelegant jargon of the west is known as a "dog leg." The weapon—a frontier Colt's of heavy caliber—was full cocked under the old man's thumb; the hand holding it was as steady as the blazing eyes above.

The street door burst open, a noisy crowd poured into the room, a volley of excited questions was raised. Amid the confusion Gray heard his own name shouted, and found himself set upon by two agitated friends, Mallow and Stoner.

Mallow dragged him toward the door. "Gee, Governor! You gave us a run. We've been coming since noon." "It was only by the grace of God," Stoner declared, "that we heard you were out here and why you'd come. We managed to get a phone call through to Jackson, but it was—"

"Jackson didn't get to you, did he?" Mallow inquired, anxiously. "Get to me? No. Nor I to him." Gray spoke impatiently. "What is this all about?" "Simply this, Governor: Jackson's well is a 'set-up!' For Nelson! We nearly dropped dead when we found out that Parker kid had laid you against it. Why didn't you tell us?"

"What are you saying? I don't—"

SERVICE DEPOT ROBBERY CASE MAN SEIZED

Authorities here today believed that they had a solution of the numerous service station burglaries, as Louis Chaus, proprietor of a Los Angeles tire sales room, who late yesterday was released on $7,500 bond from Los Angeles, where he was arrested on twelve counts charging receiving stolen goods, was re-arrested and lodged in the county jail here on grand larceny charges.

In Los Angeles, Chaus was suspected of being a "fence" for tire thieves who have been operating throughout Southern California. J. H. Secrest, proprietor of a service station at the intersection of North Main street and Chapman avenue, was said to have identified several of the hundreds of tires in the station as being those stolen from his station when it was twice robbed. He swore to the complaint.

Several weeks ago the county experienced a wave of service station burglaries. In most instances, tires and tubes were stolen, by a gang, according to the theory of the officers, working from Los Angeles.

Service stations in Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton suffered. Deputy Sheriff S. J. Scott brought Chaus to the jail here last night.

When Chaus was arraigned before Justice J. B. Cox today, his preliminary hearing was set for July 9 at 2 p. m. Bail was set at $3,000, bringing the total bail up to $10,500.

FACES FUMIGATION CHARGES. Paul J. Howard was defendant today in a complaint secured through the district attorney's office, charging him with fumigating trees without filing notice with the horticultural commissioner.

Phone 237 for good dairy products.

Whedon Resignation Report to Be Made

The resignation of Edwin F. Whedon as secretary-manager of the Orange county farm bureau was a matter of business before the board of directors of the bureau at a meeting held here today. Whedon tendered his resignation one month ago at a meeting of the board. The board asked him to extend the time of his notice in order that the resignation might be passed into committee for consideration. The committee's report was scheduled to be made today.

BARES DETAILS OF PLANS FOR SCHOOL WORK

Making every reasonable effort to keep pace with Santa Ana's rapid growth, the board of education in the next few months will authorize the expenditure of more than $75,000 for extensive improvements in the city's school facilities, according to tentative plans given out here today by Frank L. Andrews, secretary of the board.

Among other improvements, the board will order the erection of a combination auditorium and kindergarten at the Washington school on North Main street. Although this is a new building, the addition will not detract from the beauty of the structure, but will add to its attractiveness.

Attractive Entrance. "At the time the Washington school was built," said Andrews, "we had in mind the addition of the auditorium, or kindergarten room. If this work is done this year, as it probably will be, the design will be so arranged that the auditorium will furnish an attractive entrance to the building."

Other improvements contemplated by the board, for which contracts will be signed in the near future, include a four-room addition to the Spurgeon school, a three-room addition to the Lowell school, and a four-room addition to the Franklin school. It is also planned to equip the schools with adequate heating apparatus.

"It is hoped," said Secretary Andrews, "that these improvements will be completed this summer, so that the additional facilities will be available when the fall term opens. The rapid growth of the city, particularly in certain districts, has made these changes vitally necessary."

Andrews said every effort is being made to rush the construction of the junior high school on South Main street.

Not Ready by Fall. "It is doubtful, however, whether this school will be ready for occupancy when the fall term opens," said Andrews. "It is probable that it will not be ready before January."

Submitting a low bid of $67,474, R. C. McMillan was virtually assured of the contract for making the improvements to the four schools. Heating probably will go to George Cocking, on his low bid of $4,400.

McMillan, in submitting his bid, offered to do the work on the Lowell school for $14,182. His bid for the Washington school auditorium was $17,677, while his figure for the Spurgeon school was $20,674. He offered to do the Franklin school job for $14,941.

Bids ranging as high as $102,000, submitted by other contractors, were returned by the board of education.

AUTOIST INJURES LONG BEACH CHILD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 8.—Wells Gibson, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Gibson, 211 Ximeno avenue, Long Beach, was struck by an automobile driven by E. F. Dill of this city and the boy is at present in the Seaside hospital, Long Beach, with two fractures of the skull, X-ray pictures showed.

Sister Escapes. The little lad, with his seven-year-old sister, Mary Isabelle, was crossing Livingstone drive when the machine driven by Dill, appeared. The boy and girl ran, Wells releasing his sister who narrowly escaped being struck.

Struck by Dill's machine, the child was hurled to the pavement, sustained severe cuts and bruises of the head and body. In a Motell ambulance he was rushed to the Seaside hospital and immediately placed under the care of Dr. Colbert.

EVENING SALUTATION

Where all are selfish, the sage is no better than the fool, and only rather more dangerous.

—Froude.

ELIMINATING REAL EVIDENCE

We will never be able to comprehend, we are sure, the course of reasoning that induced the state legislature to pass the law making it impossible for evidence gained by the use of speed traps to be used against law-breakers, and making inadmissible the evidence of any officer who makes an arrest for speeding when he is not in uniform.

Neither can we comprehend how the representatives of the automobile clubs and other similar organizations, gathered in conference, came to recommend to the legislature that such a law be passed.

The state has passed a law setting certain speed limits for automobiles. This is a desirable law. Only by enforcing it is the general public safeguarded against fools.

The speed trap has been the greatest single agent used in gathering evidence against speeding. It is abolished. The state legislature, in effect, says:

"The speeders of this state are entitled not to be caught. Yes, we have set a speed limit, but we didn't mean it. We want the law so arranged that a motorcycle officer will have to ride alongside an automobile and say to the driver, 'I am thinking of arresting you for speeding, and I am going to ride along with you now and see if you are breaking the speed law. Slow down before I check your speed.'"

"Undoubtedly," says the Fresno Republican in discussing this piece of foolish legislation, "if we should take a vote among those who violate other laws, we should find that they were equally against the means by which laws are enforced. The detective force is very unpopular among burglars. And while our good citizens who speed are not to be compared to burglars except in that one thing, that one comparison holds good. Speeders and burglars equally do not like the law to be enforced upon them."

ASK FOR PURE FRUIT JUICE

Drink the fresh, unadulterated juice of California's leading fruit crop, is the suggestion of citrus growers of the state, Uncle Sam's Pure Food Department, and other organizations interested in the health of the people at large.

It is pointed out that the fresh juice, extracted from the fruit, is pure and unpolluted, hence is good for babies or old people—invaluable or athletes. It contains vitamins, and is refreshing, thirst quenching and strength building.

To arouse general interest in the subject, the week of June 11 has been designated as Genuine Fruit Juice Week. During this time, special displays will be made in the stores handling oranges and at soda fountains and other vantage points, to acquaint the people with the many advantages of nature's favorite health drink, during all the year.

Curiously enough, Southern California does not consume its quota of genuine orange juice, although its trees produce four and a half billion fruits annually, or over forty glasses of juice a year for every man, woman and child in the United States.

The economic importance of the entire country insisting upon pure fruit juice is great to this section. It means a widening of the market and stronger demand for the golden fruit. The orange crop brings an income to Southern California of approximately $200 a year per family, all of which is new wealth from the soil.

The movement to acquaint the people at large with the health-giving qualities of freshly extracted orange juice is being initiated in Southern California. Later the message will be carried to all parts of the United States and Canada and it is believed that it will greatly stimulate the market for oranges.

DEPENDS ON THE BATHERS

Safety at the beaches depends largely on the bathers. Once a bather is in danger, the rescue, to a large extent, is a mere matter of luck, but getting into a situation where rescue is necessary is something that, as a rule, the bather can avoid.

It is the beginning of the summer season at Orange county beaches, and it is timely that a warning be issued to the many thousands who during the summer will enjoy the surf.

To be sure, there is an occasional tide-rip, and now and then some person is washed into the sea by an unexpected breaker. With each, however, the danger is nearly always enhanced by the venturesomeness of the bather. Either he goes out too far from shore, or fails to remember that breakers sometimes dash unexpectedly upon the rocks.

Often a bather over-estimates his strength. Swimming calls into play muscles not strengthened by other exercise, and the bather may tire. Going into the water immediately after a meal may bring cramps. The bather who cannot swim or who is not a good swimmer should take no chances. Even with good swimmers, it is often best not to go into the water alone.

The establishment of a corps of expert swimmers at Newport Beach, East Newport and Balboa is a matter of congratulation. This corps can be depended upon to render quick service. It is to be hoped that the corps will not be called upon. It is certain that care on the part of bathers will reduce the number of calls to a minimum.

THE INDIAN'S FIRE RECORD

Our Indians have five million acres of forests on their reservations, but only $5130 damage was done to these woods last year, Uncle Sam reports. It's a safe bet that most of the fires were started by lightning or white men.

The Indian is careful—every week of the year, not just during one week set aside by the President for forest conservation. Be sure your camp fires are out. Never throw away a glowing cigaret or match in the woods. We are headed toward a timber famine. Majority of forest fires are due to carelessness. Remember the Indians and their fire record.

A STEP IN DRUG REFORM

The American program for international control of the narcotic drug traffic has been formally adopted by the League of Nations. This program calls particularly for the severe limitation of opium and cocaine production.

It should be observed that the plan was adopted by a vote of seven to one, and that the leaders of the movement to support the American demand were the delegations of Great Britain and China—the two countries which profit most by the opium industry. The only delegation voting against the plan was that of Holland.

With opium production restricted and international distribution controlled, it will be far easier for this country, the chief sufferer, to protect itself from the ravages of this deadly drug. The action taken shows that the possibilities for international reforms, through voluntary agreement, are greater than many people have supposed.

Believes In Citrus Industry
Redlands Facts.

Jay C. Sexton, vice president of the First National Bank, comparatively a newcomer to Redlands, in a recent talk to the realty board at its meeting brought a new and inspiring outlook on the citrus industry. Mr. Sexton is convinced that it is an industry of a great future and that Redlands is very definitely linked with it and with the benefits that will derive from such a union.

Mr. Sexton in his remarks spoke of the necessity of the people of Redlands coming to realize what an immense asset the city has in the citrus industry for the future. For the past he said that the industry has suffered some very hard jolts but that they were no more severe than other agricultural lines suffer and that they will eventually be of value.

He told how several years ago one of the leading bankers of Southern California publicly stated that he would not loan a dollar above the fifty per cent value of the raw land in the citrus industry. He had no belief in the future of the industry at that time but years later that marvel of marvels was achieved, the co-operative association for the packing and marketing of the fruit.

Then that same man entered the citrus game himself, became a grower, very friendly to the industry and later one of the staunch supporters and he did as much to build up the industry in Los Angeles county as any man there.

There is coming a day, Mr. Sexton is convinced, when California will have a population of seven million people. Other coast states will grow proportionately and a large volume of the citrus grove production will go to supplying the home market. Mr. Sexton can see nothing but a bright future ahead for the citrus industry of California, for the planting is clearly defined, only certain sections being available.

Also there are many citrus groves near Los Angeles, and even in Orange county, which will soon be too valuable as subdivision property to remain in citrus groves, they will be needed as lots where the people who are coming to California will live. And much of that land will be needed for small plots of the most intensive varied farming and as a result citrus growing will be driven to the hills and that means Redlands.

Mr. Sexton believes there is no better place in all the world to grow oranges than this section and no better oranges can be grown than here. He says that people have been careless with their trees, they have not studied the cultural methods and have not profited by mistakes of the past, but that day is over and Redlands' future is assured and certain.

He so often hears the statement "why do not Redlands groves pay like those of Orange county and why is Orange county ahead of us?" Mr. Sexton replies in Orange county for many years he believes the groves pay better there because they have been better cared for, fumigation is done each year and strictly attended to and the people are anxious to spend money to get results.

Orange county is undoubtedly the richest county in the state. This is because every foot of it is subject to intensive farming. Growers here are realizing they have somewhat more difficult problems than Orange county and he feels certain that the average grove has not received more than a small part of the care and food given Orange county groves. But this is a condition that will not prevail indefinitely.

Mr. Sexton feels certain the citrus industry in California is in its infancy. He believes these hills will some day be terraced groves and that the demand will be keen enough to insure good prices and the ability of the growers to carefully feed and protect their groves.

To Finance State Highways

Oakland Tribune.

To complete the 6500 miles of highway included in the state's system at least two hundred millions of dollars will be required. A problem which faces California is how this money is to be raised.

That all the information may be available and to furnish the voters with the most complete plans to the legislature at the session just closed passed a bill calling for the appointment of a committee of nine persons to enter upon a detailed and comprehensive study of the road problems of the state. Now that Governor Richardson has signed the bill it is expected the committee will soon be named and the work will be started.

The committee, which serves without pay, is authorized to propose a complete system of state roads, study types of construction and materials to be used, recommend the inclusion of additional mileage, the exclusion of certain legislative roads now in the system, and to estimate the time to be occupied in the completion of the project. Its most important function will be to recommend in its report to the next legislature two years hence of a plan for financing the enterprise.

There is a growing conviction that to issue bonds for so large an amount would not be advisable. The committee, in all probability, will consider other means such as gas, weight, license or tire taxes placed just high enough to carry construction over a period of years. It is intimated that among other possibilities to be investigated is a tax on oil at production.

Within thirty days the appointment of committee members will be made. Under the bill the highway engineer, one member of the highway commission, one member of the board of control and one member of the Senate and Assembly must be named. The four remaining will be selected from the state at large.

The plan gives the committee two years for an investigation which, if carried out in the detail which the size and importance of the task would seem to demand, will require at least that much time.

Presidential Primaries

From the Forum.

Few people, if any, will dispute the theoretical soundness of direct primaries. Some say they are impracticable in application. Inexpedient, they mean, for their purposes.

The presidential preference primary is only an extension of the principle of direct primaries to national elections. The presidential preference primary system may have defects that only time, through proper amendments to the law, can correct, but they are consonant with the wholesome spirit of the age, that namely, public officials shall be selected by and made responsible to the voters in the simplest form consistent with practical administration of public affairs.

The people will have direct primaries in state and municipal elections, and presidential preference primaries in the selection of their candidates for president and continue representative government, or in due course they will establish a pure democracy in the states through the initiative, referendum, and recall, and select their president by direct vote through an amendment to their constitution.

There's a Cog Loose Somewhere

Is Your Life So Dull?

After following the sea 46 years, in which he "sailed" a total of 2,500,000 miles, Captain Anthony Cadogan retires. His last ocean trip was from Buenos Aires to New York.

A great sea name, Anthony Cadogan. And a wonderful career that will be envied by nearly all of us who are chained to a dull humdrum existence.

Captain Cadogan has friends in every country in the world. He crossed the equator 320 times. He has seen many startling changes in ships since he put to sea in 1877, and equally startling changes in the countries he visited. Adventures many, including capture by the German raider Karlsruhe in 1916.

Captain Cadogan retires to his home near New York city. He will not find life dull, for he will live chiefly in memories. Why is it, that the other fellow gets the romance and adventure of life, while most of us get only a monotonous grind?

A few years after Captain Cadogan made his first trip at sea on the full-rigged ship Lord Channing, a young fellow running a bicycle repair shop was tinkering with a gasoline engine, trying to make it operate a "horseless carriage."

That young fellow was Henry Ford. Recently he has been turning out finished cars at the rate of one every four seconds.

The Wall Street Journal inspects Ford's business report for the twelve months ended last February 28, and figures that he made a profit of $55 on each car.

How would you like to have $55 dropping into your pocket every four seconds?

Captain Cadogan, contemplating Ford, will agree that in many ways Henry has the most interesting life of any landlubber.

Captain Cadogan can have his ocean, and Henry Ford can have his $55 every four seconds, as far as Farren Zerbe is concerned. For Zerbe, world-famed coin expert, has the largest coin in existence. It's a Swedish piece, minted in 1730, weighs nearly seven pounds, is stamped out of copper plate 10 inches square.

What more could any man want than a collection of rare bits of metal such as this old "daler," Zerbe probable wonders.

Lots of interesting careers in this life, most of us reflect, even if the majority have to watch from the sidelines.

But, mull this thought: Perhaps our hobbies, our families, our successes, and our lives give us just as much individual joy and satisfaction as the hobbies, families, successes and lives of some of these men we read so much about give to them.

THE SPIRIT OF FLOWERS

How mild and sweet the vernal airs are blown
From out the blossom of the shining sky!
Is not of softer touch than is their own.
The young dove's downy wing has never flown
With a more tender beat. Within them lie
The balmy soothing that so fondly try
To make the spring the fairest season known.
There is a presence hovering everywhere—
A presence hidden and yet clearly felt,
That seems the soul in ecstasy to melt
And leaves her buoyant as with fervent prayer;
And in their utmost depths the conscious powers
Now sense the spirit of the unborn flowers.

The Old Family Album

Indianapolis Star

It is reported on New York authority that the old family photograph album is coming back; that is, not the original old album, but a new one, a new album to hold photographs nevertheless. Probably every family has one of the old albums concealed about the premises—at the bottom of a trunk containing household relics or on an upper closet shelf seldom explored, in company with the family Bible.

Both these books used to hold the place of honor on the marble-topped parlor center table, but when the girls grew up and got into their twenties they thoughtfully removed the Bible from its conspicuous place because of the family records inscribed in special blank pages in the sacred volume. Grandfather would insist on having all the names and dates entered, but what was the use of having the list out where any visitor curious about ages could examine it, the girls wanted to know. So they hid the book after grandfather had gone.

It was the same with the album. The girls were there at various stages of development, from sprawling babies with expressionless faces to the awkward age of 13 or 14, and perhaps older, but all "queer" looking. Fashions of the several stages were weird and unbecoming and some of them were as accurate betrayals of the age of the wearers as the dates in the Bible. Besides all that, some of the relatives enshrined in the album had a distinctly unsophisticated look. It was impossible to pass Uncle John and Aunt Maria off as aristocratic New Yorkers and even father and mother, standing hand in hand in their wedding garments, had a bucolic appearance and did not look like father and mother. So the album went on the upper shelf.

Yet, after all, that old book of family photographs could not be thrown away. There was a hardly acknowledged sense of value connected with it that forbade such treatment. It was a human document to which belonged tender associations in spite of its faded portraits, the stiff poses, the queer costumes. The daughters, no longer young, are getting the old albums out of their hiding places now and looking at them with different eyes. Tears mingle with their smiles. What do fashions matter now? Call them "quaint" and let them go at that. And what a pleasure it is to see how father and mother looked in their youth.

Curious Signaling

The use of invisible light for signaling in warfare has been demonstrated before the Physical society of London by an expert in such matters. According to the reports, the first machine shown was a signaling lamp that gave a beam of light so narrow that in many circumstances it would insure secrecy. When it becomes desirable to avoid showing any light whatever, filters are employed to cut out the visible spectrum. By day a deep red filter, transmitting only the extreme red rays of light, is placed in front of the lamp. The light is invisible to the observer unless he has a similar red screen to cut out the daylight. With the screen he can see enough to read signals at a distance of six miles. By night a screen is used that transmits only the ultra-violet rays of light.—Washington Star.

Were First "Drys"

The first body of pledged abstainers from intoxicating liquors were the members of the Bible Christian church, Salford, Eng., founded in 1809. From the foundation of the church all its members have been pledged abstainers from food, drink and fowl as food, and from intoxicating liquors.

From this church was issued the first tract advocating total abstinence from intoxicating liquors. The tract is one of a series of "Letters on Religious Subjects" by Joseph Brotherton, minister of the church from 1816 to 1857. It is entitled "On Abstinence from Intoxicating Liquors" and bears the date, May, 1821. Mr. Brotherton was Salford's first member of parliament, a position he retained for 25 years.—Kansas City Star.

NO. 2—JACK TOWN

Merely Habit

I hate to quit the thing I've started.
I like to see it through.
It isn't that I'm valiant hearted,
But when I've planned to do
A certain stunt, I cannot quit
Until I see what comes of it.

I wouldn't say it was persistence
That keeps me on the job,
But, when I've got a certain distance,
To keep on going till I see
What luck waits at the end for me.

I hate to quit the game I'm playing.
Until I've played it out.
I know that I'm a fool for staying
At times, beyond a doubt,
But still I stick till I have scanned
The pasteboards in the final hand.

So I keep on the course I've charted
Because I want to view
How things come out that, hopefulhearted,

I thought that I could do;
I hate to quit the things I've started.
I like to see it through!

"Jack Town!" called Mister Punch, the conductor of the Choo-choo Land Express. Ten minutes for lunch.

Nancy and Nick wanted no lunch, but they did want to ask about Ruby Joan, Nancy's rag doll that was lost. So out they tumbled and rusher away at once to ask a policeman if anyone like Ruby Joan had been around.

Jack Town was a queer place, there wasn't a doubt. Everybody in it had to have a Jack in his name or he couldn't live there.

There were Jacks, and Jack-in-the-Boxes, and Jack Stems, and Jack Straws and Jacks, and Jack-in-the-Pants, and Jack-of-all-Trades and all the Jacks in the world.

The policeman was a Jumping Jack, because he had to be everywhere at once.

So the Twins went up to him at once. "Did you see Ruby Joan, my rag-doll?" asked Nancy. "She had shoe-button eyes and a polka-dot dress, and polka-dot stockings but her hair was only painted on like her rosy cheeks. Did you see her?"

"No, I didn't," answered the Jumping Jack policeman. But I'll ask Jack A. Spandy and Jack B. Nimble and Jack Sprat and Jack the Piper and Jack the Giant Killer and Jack A. Nory and the Jack of Clubs. If none of them saw her, she can't be here at all.

Pretty soon he came jumping back, swinging his club.

"No one in Jack Town has seen her," he said. "I'm sorry. Come again when you can stay longer."

"Thank you, we will," promised Nancy.

"Toot! Toot!" went the Choo-choo Land Express. The Twins ran and jumped on just in time.
